Scott,

Craig

PS — Well so your Asst President HA!
Hope you manage that I'll never know,
but I do think you will be a fair job.
After all you have me on your EK. Board.
All and all it's been a busy and exciting year, and you (even in your weaker state of mind & body) have managed to pull through it. I am looking forward to next year - helping you making all the important decisions and so on. So, in ending, I hope you have an EXciting summer.
(not strenuous however, because I don't think you could make it) and hope to see your smiling face in the uniform room before school starts. BONA FORTUNA SEMPER

Craig Stein

Scott:

Isn't it wonderful getting rid of all those lousy players like Dalby and LeTourneux.? Man, now we can really show everbody ho to play an instrument. It's a good thing this year is ending, I don't think I can take school much longer.

What's gonna happen this summer? How about having a big orgy in which the Band and Orchestra members may reflect on this year and otherwize "do what they want." Let's organize a huge football league this fall and play in the snow ~~this~~ again. (oops - got distracted by your dad.)

I'll be seeing you - try not to be too good.

Bob Hale

Scott! you ol' Sea Dog!

You are neat, neat, neat!
(Well, I don't know you too well,...) (ha, ha)
Seriously, I really think you are cool. (Mary does, too!!!)
Maybe sometime you & Mary, and Me & Tom, (ha!) can double, or something. Hoffentlich!! Oh, that's right — O.K. here's something.

Du bist ein netter Kerl.
Ich denke das du und Mary gut zusammen genen.

Well, Bye for now —

Auf Wiedersehen bis Sonntag!!! (Watts is German.)

Scott, sitting at the same with you in physics
Wherever you go, spread joy, & cheer.
Store has been fun. Except next time you know I may
to know more about
what you're doing,
because it's hard to get answers off a blank paper.
Congratulations on getting Band Pres.,
you ~~CENSORED~~. Remember, think, plan, act—
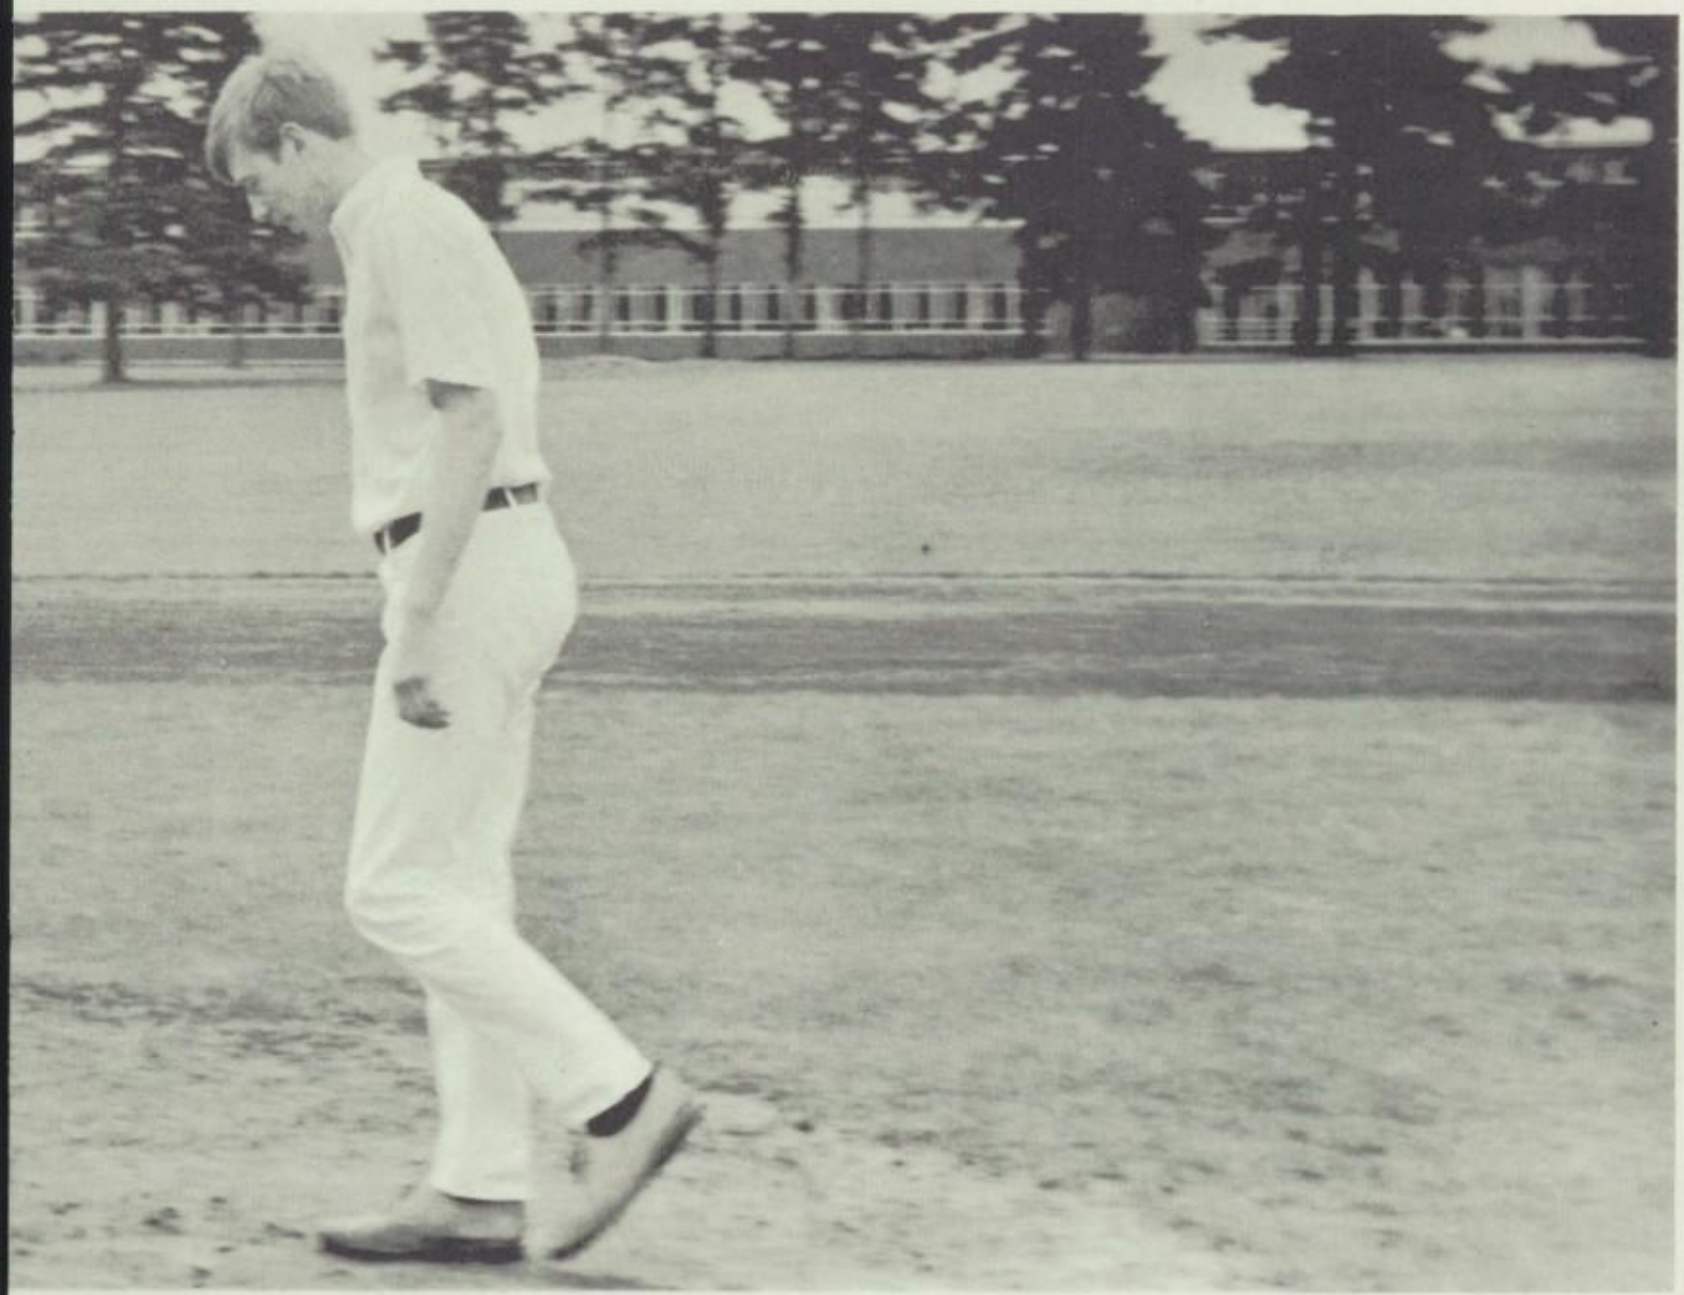
only do it first,
there's plenty of time
to think about it later.
Have a good summer, work hard,
but mostly have a good summer.
Take it easy, as easy as possible,
we'll see ya. Happy Days!
Love & kisses, Rich Holch

What made this year unlike other years?

This year the voters of Portland twice rejected a tax levy to cover the costs of operating schools. We knew that the School Board would cut costs drastically—but that was far away from us. Then, in July, when we first found out just what we would lose—P.I.L. sports, dances, advanced courses, plays, concerts—we were shocked and indignant. Later, when the truth really sank in, we felt angry, cheated and deflated. How could the people of our own city deprive us of the things that mattered, especially when we were seniors?



SAVE
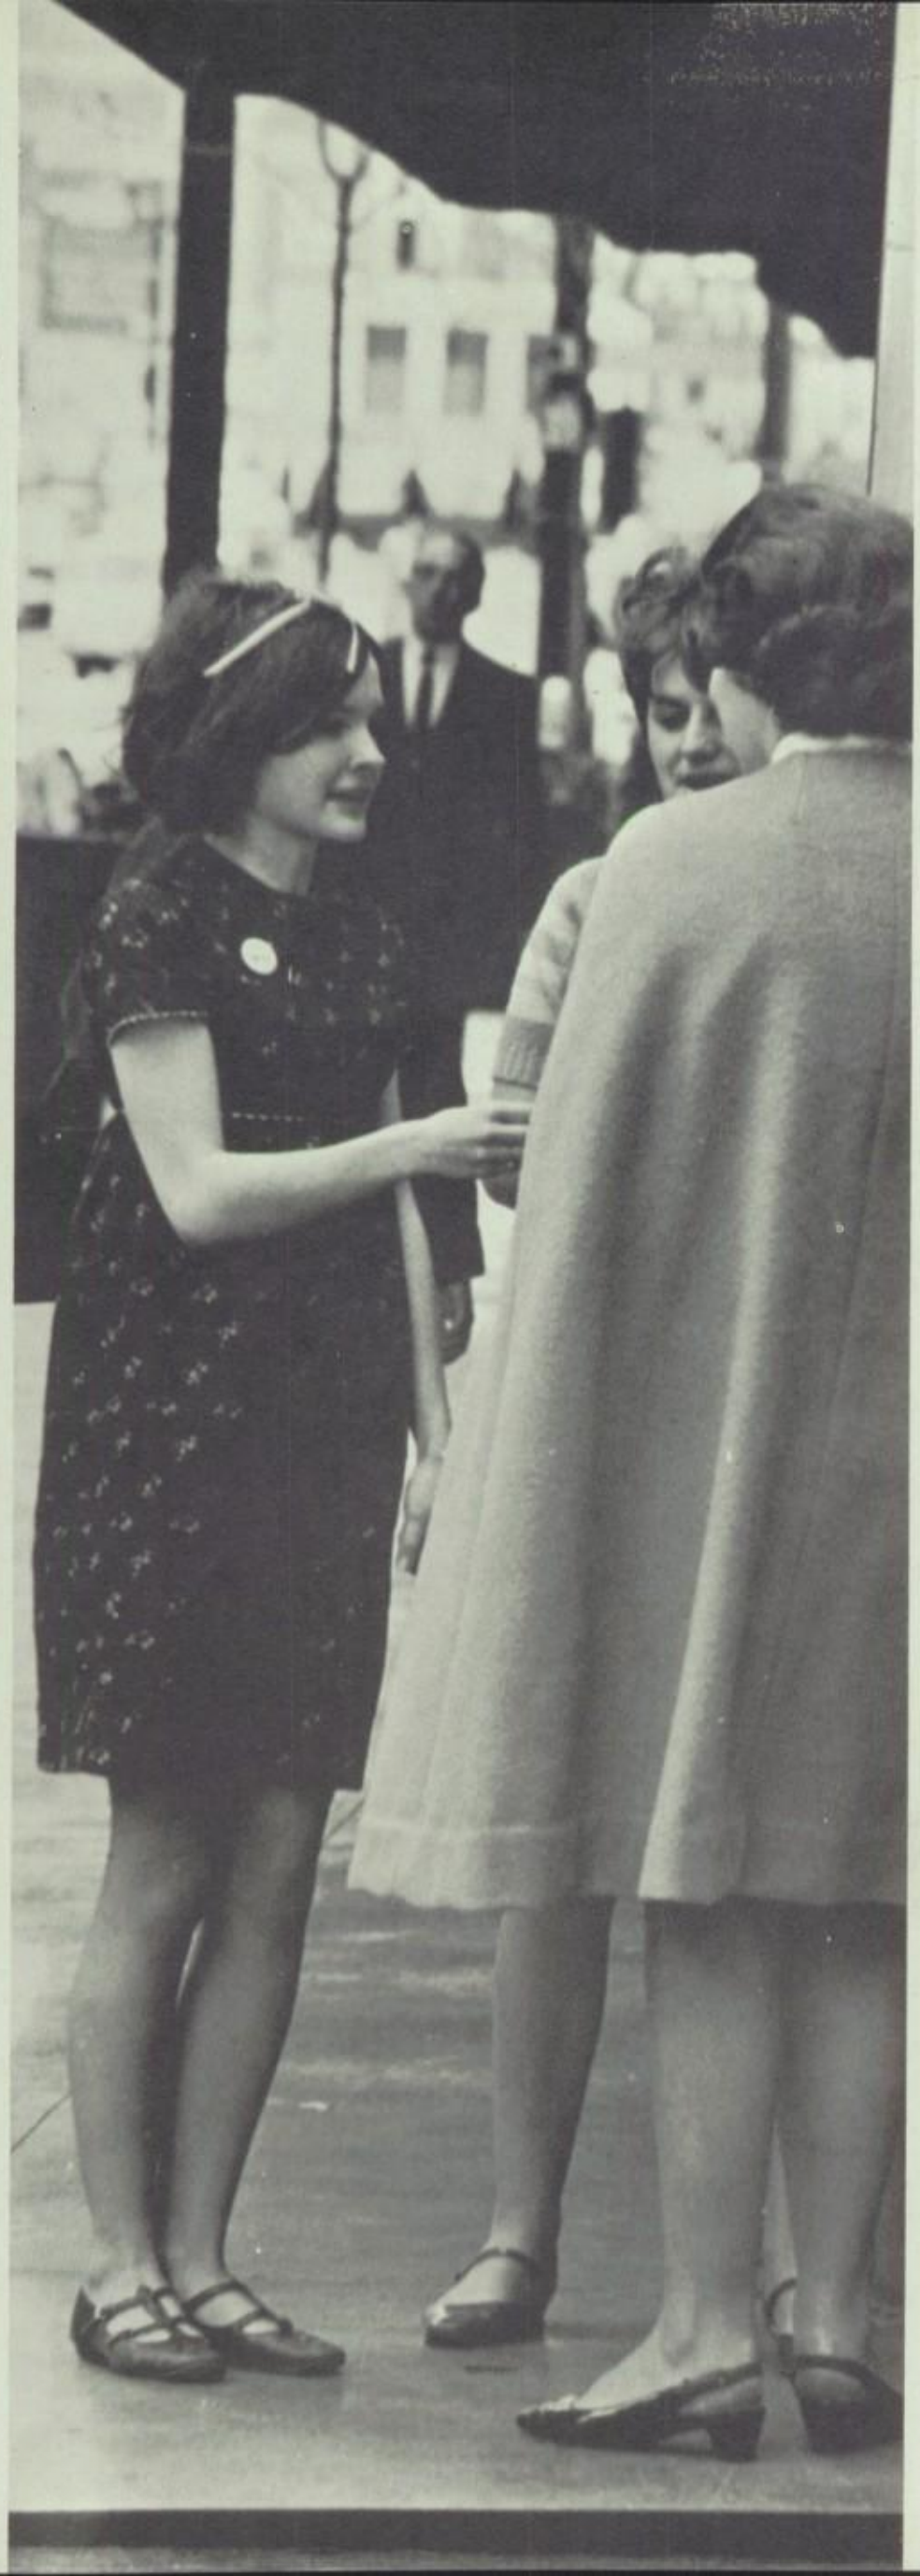
ATHLETICS



To our shock, we discovered that to bring back our P.I.L. we would have to raise the impossible sum of $271,000. How could a bunch of high school kids raise a quarter of a million dollars? The Portland coaches realized that we couldn't do it alone and they immediately began talking to businessmen to persuade them to donate.

With an ounce of hope the coaches organized us so that we might do something for our cause. We sold "Save PIL" button on downtown street corners; we sold buttons door-to-door; we collected newspapers; we collected pop bottles. When the last dollar rolled we were jubilant. Our sports were saved It looked as if this year might be all right after all.

When we came back to Madison in September the real impact of the levy failure finally hit us. We found that we had lost many classes that would have enriched our year—advanced German, Russian, Shakespeare, Western Civ., Russian history, and effective reading. Some of us took classes at Portland State College, Grant High School, and Portland Community College to make up for our loss. The whole city knew about the PIL—but nobody got excited about what was missing from our curriculum. Later, when we were told that we were five teachers short we noticed the crowded classes, the rooms where we didn't have enough desks, and the classes where we had to share books. We didn't have enough money for new supplies and equipment. In art, industrial art, and science we had to buy some of our equipment ourselves. We felt we were getting a second-rate education. Did the voters think that we were second-rate people?

LATINA VIVA

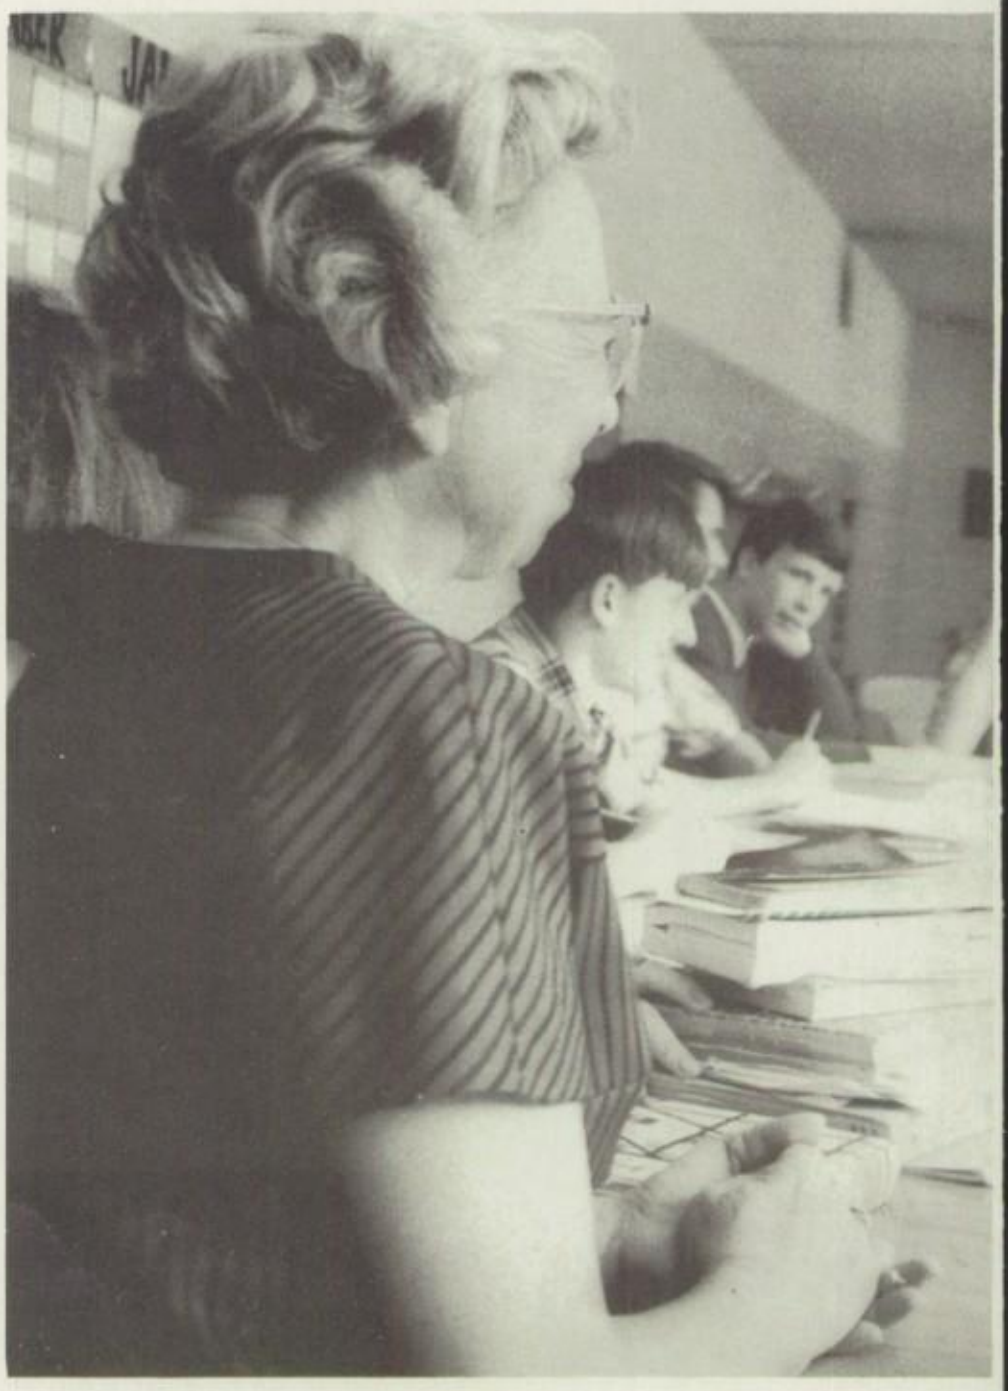
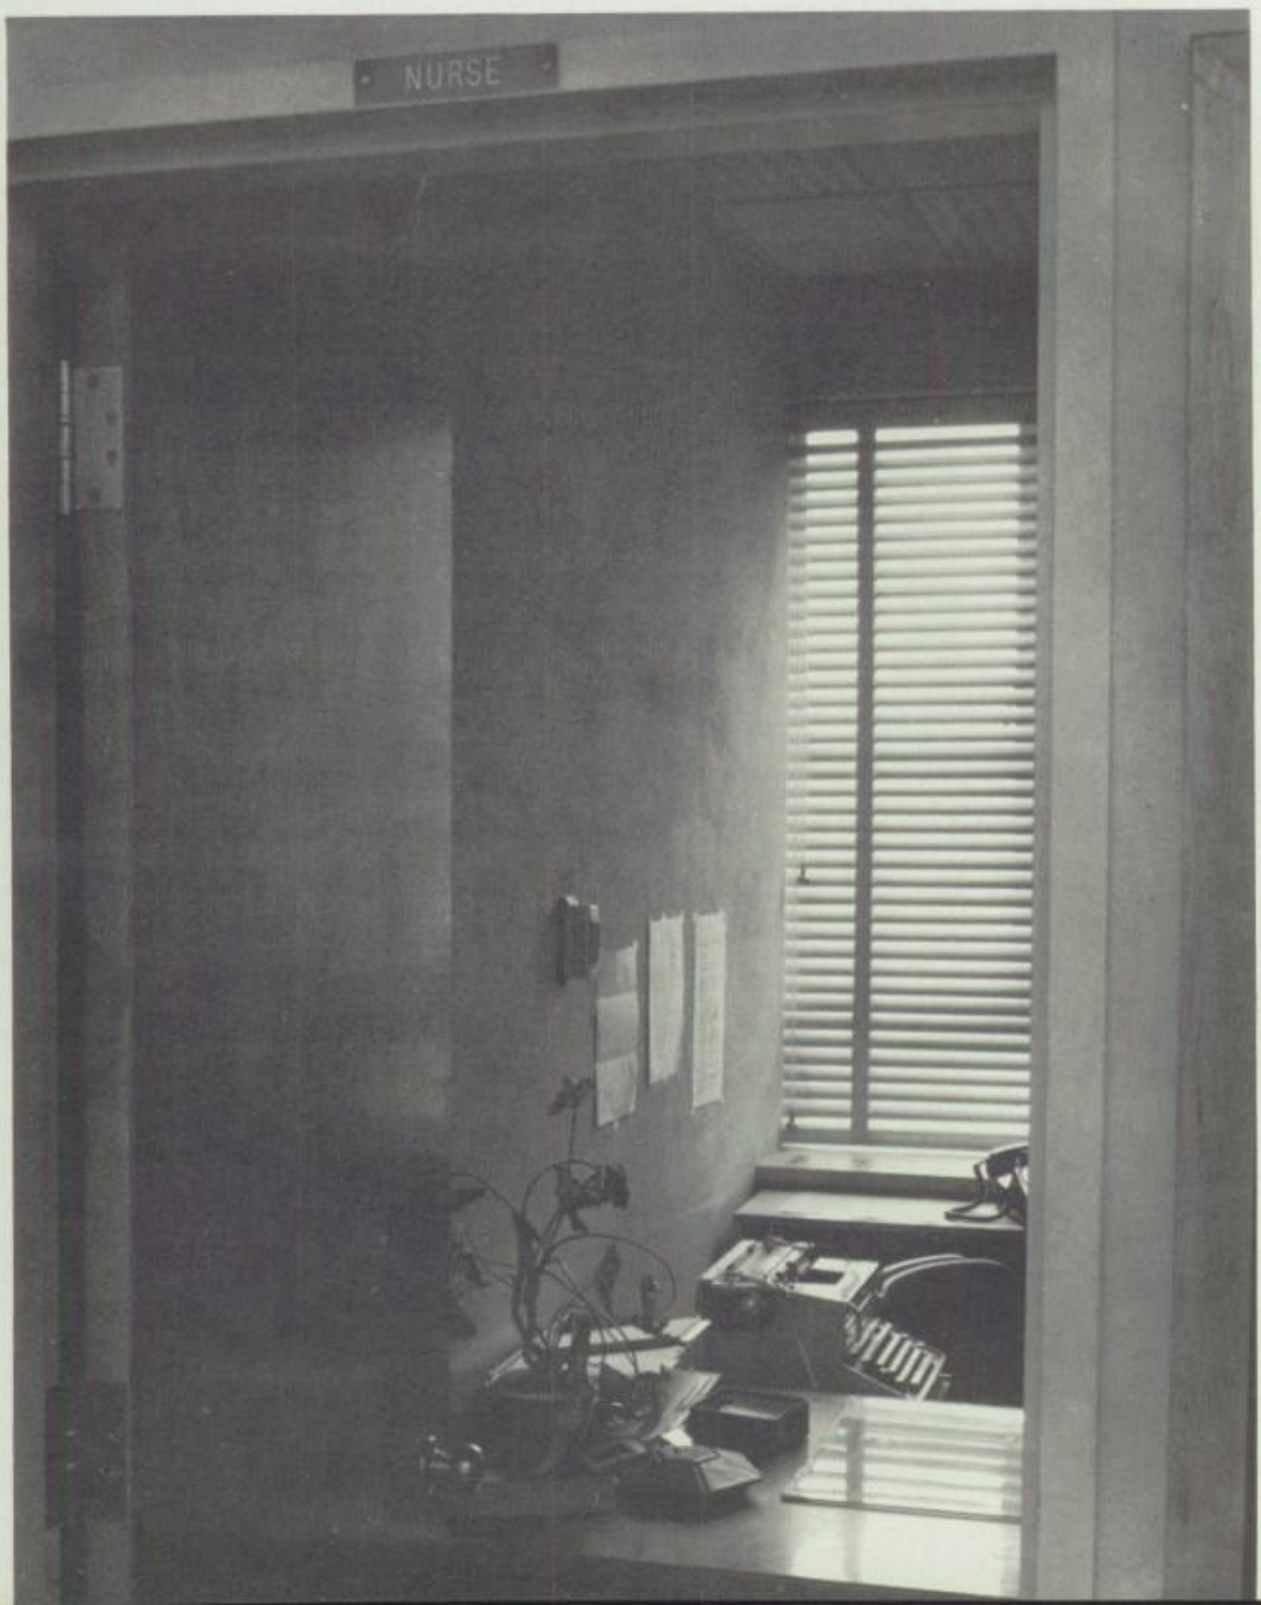
We had to live off last year's left-overs and this year's meager allowance in our music, drama, and forensics classes, too. The auditorium was closed after six o'clock unless we rented it, so we had to practice plays, concerts, and assemblies during the crowded school hours.

In our music classes we had little new sheet music and no new instruments. We couldn't even get our damaged instruments repaired. Those of us in forensics didn't have as many speech meets as last year, and instead of having qualified college judges we had less experienced volunteers.

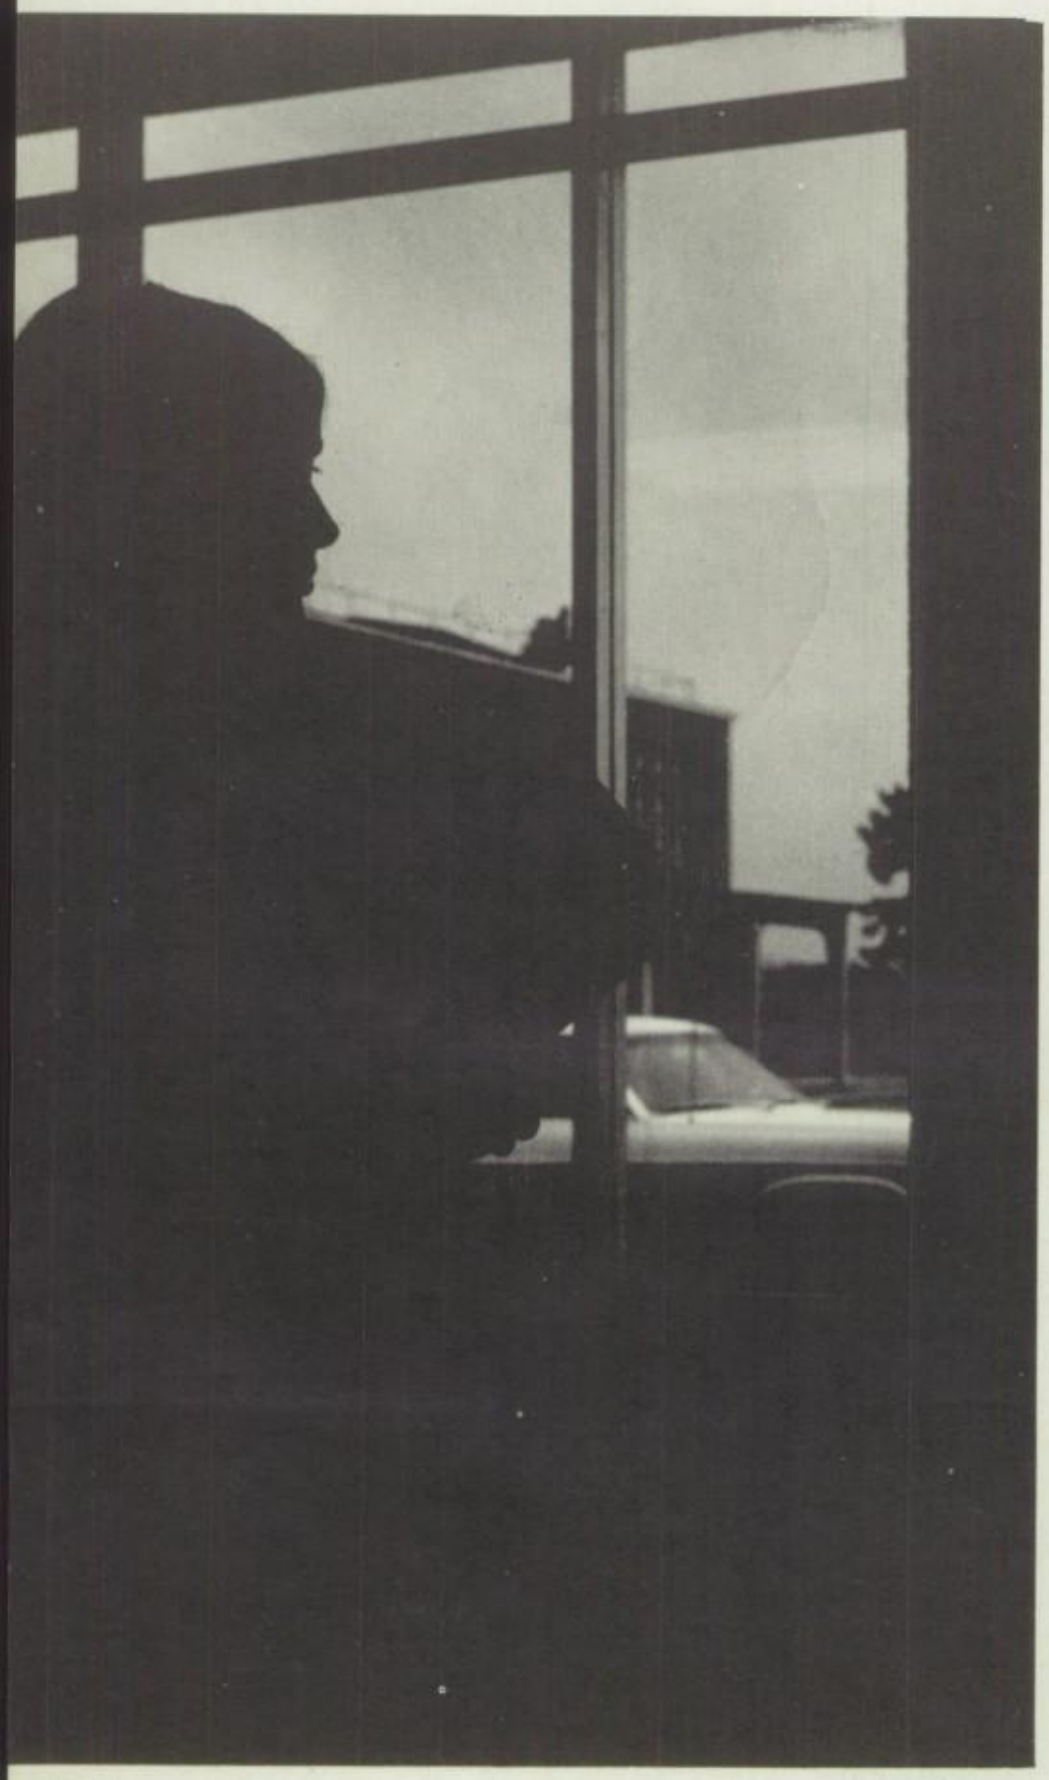
It seemed that more responsibility was shoved on us, but it wasn't the responsibility to learn—it was the responsibility to belittle our talents and to scrounge with what we had.

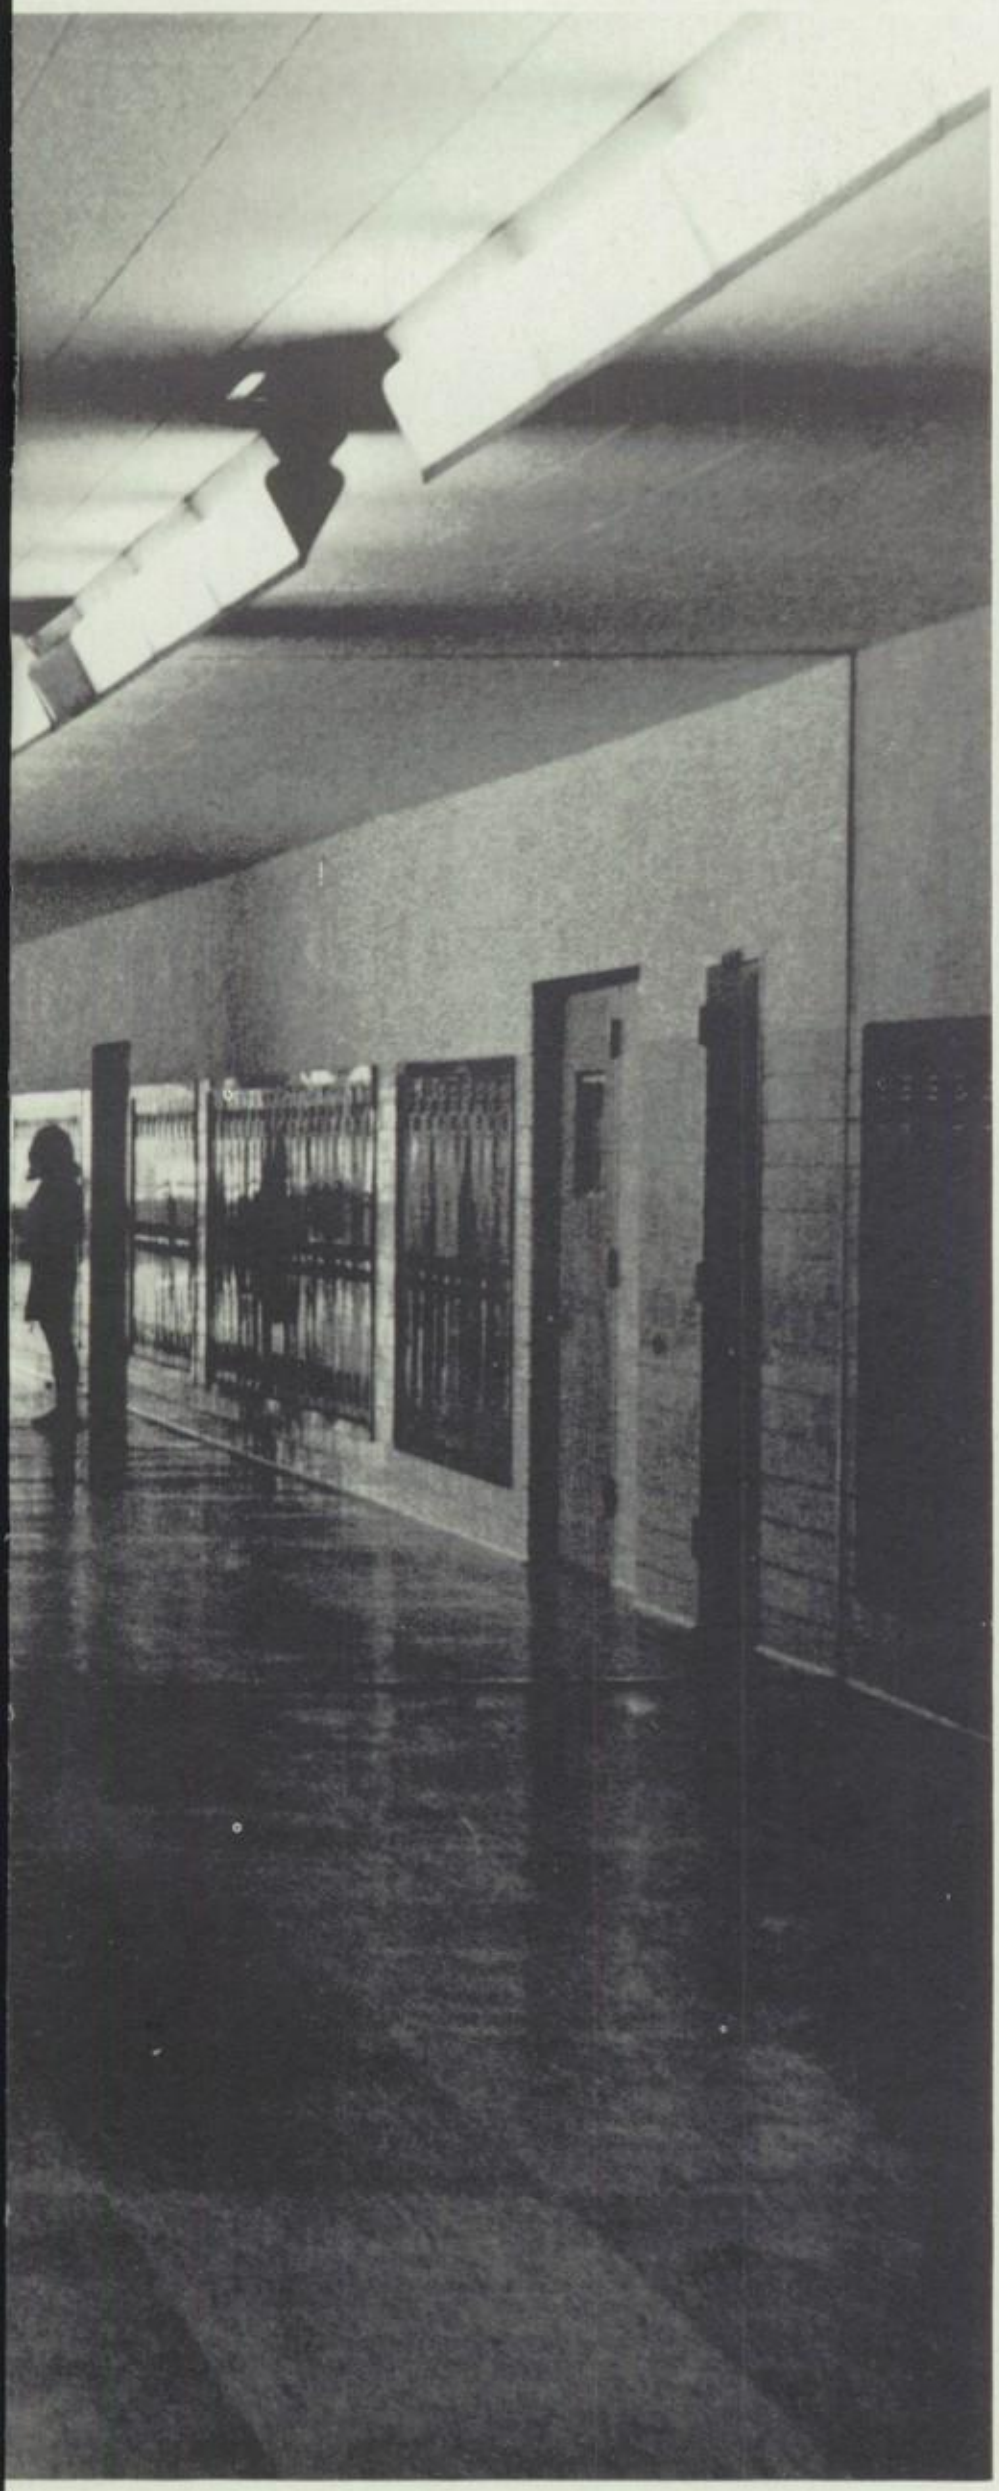
Straining with the loss of valuable staff, the administration and clerical help found they had just as much work to do—but fewer people to do it. Administrators and counselors had to teach some of our classes and direct activities as well as run the school. The secretaries, making up for the cut of one full-time secretary and the part-time schedules of three others, worked overtime to get the school's secretarial jobs done. Because there was only one teacher aide to man the resource center, it was closed when she was gone, leaving us frustrated if we wanted to study there. If our teachers wanted a test mimeographed, they had to wait for the office secretaries to do it. If one of us felt a pinch, all of us felt a pinch.





NURSE





Scott,
we made it through
towns class and boy am
I glad. S-P was a kick and I'm still glad I took it maybe I'll see ya around this summer. I love fun and Best of luck.
Pam & Shawn

This was the year the levy failed.

We were unhappy with what we lost and we fought for what we could save. This year we managed to pull through— but what kind of a year will be next year's students, particularly the seniors, have? Will they have the same kind of a year we had, or will it be worse? Will they discover, as we did, that this is our school and that this part of our education is important to us right now? We found that through our concern for ourselves we became more aware of our school, our education, and the problems facing our Portland schools.

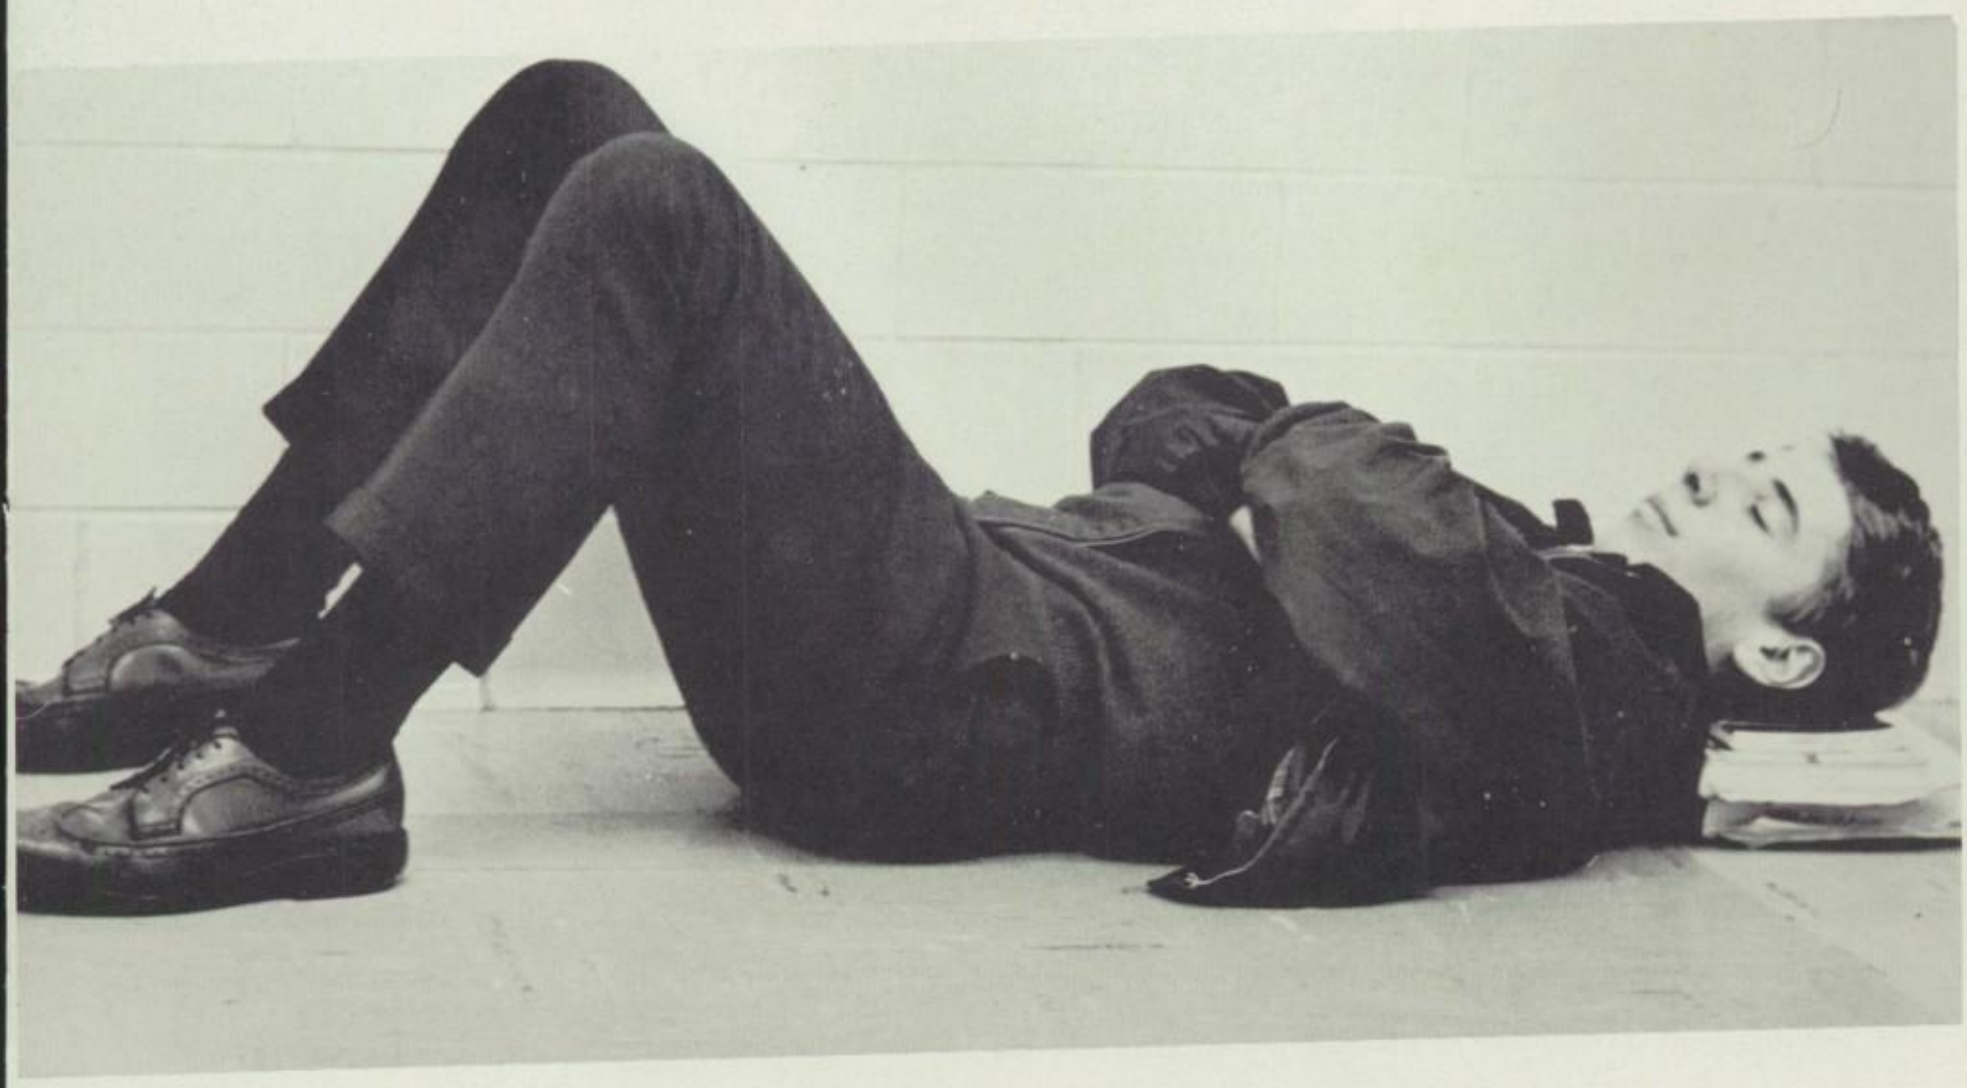
Senior Motto

The Peace Rose and colors of blue and silver were chosen to represent the class of '68.



The sounds of silence prevail.

Hi Scott,
It's been great knowing you this year, and I hope to see you next fall if not this summer. Keep up the good Flute playing so I can follow your example. Ok?
Good luck next year and be good
Love ya,

Leadership

ADMINISTRATION

Top Brass

In his sixth year of heading Madison's administration is Principal Walter Erickson. Mr. Erickson is greatly concerned with student-faculty relationships and seeing that everything is in a smooth working order. Mr. Erickson must also find time in his busy schedule to attend bi-monthly Portland Principals meeting. Although he has entire responsibility and final say on the whole operation of Madison, he has three assistant administrators.

Mr. David Wieneke and Miss Georgia Dean, administrative vice-principals, in charge of boys' and girls' discipline respectively, take care of illegal absences and insubordination. Mr. Wieneke, new to Madison this year, is also in charge of supervising the Boy's League, the sports banquets, and many other activities. Before coming to Madison, he was Supervisor of Secondary Education for the Portland Public Schools. Advisor of the Girl's League is only one of the varied duties of Miss Dean. This past year, due to the school budget cut, Miss Dean also taught the leadership class. In addition to these activities she coordinated and supervised the American Field Service program and kept an accurate school calendar.

Serving as curriculum vice-principal is Mrs. Sue Bushnell. Her job includes supervising the new teachers and presiding over a monthly meeting in which various teaching methods are discussed. One of her most time consuming duties is balancing and scheduling the many classes at Madison. This year Mrs. Bushnell taught one freshman E-SS class.

Administrators confer about the next activity.

Mr. Walter Erickson, principal, seems very relaxed, although his job involves a great deal of work.

Mr. David Wieneke, vice-principal, ponders the everyday work involved in his job.

Mr. Erickson confers with a Madison Dad.

Miss Georgia Dean, in charge of the Girls' League, takes a brief rest.

In charge of curriculum is vice-principal Mrs. Sue Bushnell.

People Of Tomorrow

Each morning at 9:12 the student leaders of Madison High School, the Executive Council, met in the Student Body Office. In leadership class, these students helped to bridge the gap between the student body and the administration. Under Miss Dean's guidance, they acted as the voice of the student body.

A party for the Student Council at Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor was the setting for the Executive Council to acquaint students with the procedures and purposes of the Student Council.

Led by Tim Ramis, the organizing and planning of a new study hall plan was the major project of the Fall Executive Council. The plan gave each student more freedom and enabled them to select the study atmosphere of their choice.

Other projects included the sponsoring and organization of the Christmas Formal and the Delbrook Exchange Program.

As the fall student body leaders departed from office, the spring cabinet was welcomed by the student body, along with their new projects as well as the continuation of several fall innovations. The new study hall system continued to be the chief topic of concern. Spring leaders worked to eliminate some of the problems by increasing the number of student supervisors and strictly reserving the study center for people from study halls. They also discussed the possibility of having food available during study halls.

On March 22nd the Spring Executive Council sponsored one of the six dances allowed. All proceeds of this dance went to the Senior Class Fund.

Discussion, involvement, and enthusiasm describes the effort put forth by the Spring Executive Council.

G.L. FALL OFFICERS

The Fall Girls' League Cabinet initiated a new link in communication: A Girls' Headquarters. A place where girls may go for assistance if they need a safety pin, kleenex, or information concerning G. L. activities was the purpose of the innovation.

The Fall Girls' League Cabinet was involved in producing various activities throughout their term. Orientation Day, held on August 20, introduced freshmen to high school. A skit written by Ruth Malone, entitled "Thoroughly Frightened Freshmen", presented problems frequently encountered by freshmen. Flappers and villains highlighted the annual Senior-Freshmen Party, put on by the senior girls. After the skit, senior girls got freshmen "little sisters". The Girls' League Christmas Party featured a popcorn stringing contest, various skits, and a sing-along-with-Santa. For the Christmas Project the girls distributed Christmas stockings and returned over 450 filled with goodies for underprivileged children. The final activity for the cabinet was creating the annual girl ask boy dance, the "Sweethearts' Ball." The theme of the dance was "Love Is Blue."

G.L. SPRING OFFICERS

"The only way to multiply happiness is to divide it" was chosen by the Spring Cabinet for their motto because it expressed their main goal, friendship.

Under the leadership of Barb Pallari, the Girls' League organized spring activities to promote friendship among the girls. On February 23, the seniors challenged the juniors to the annual Hooperoo basketball game, with an after-game party planned by the sophomores and freshmen. The main project during the spring term was to plan a variety of activities for traditional Girls' League Week, held during the week of April 1. Cotton Day, usually included in Girls' League Week was held on the first day of Spring. The varied activities planned to involve all girls, included Teacher Appreciation Day and the Mother-Daughter Tea. The Spring Cabinet continued the new tradition of presenting birthday cards to the girls, even if their birthdays fell during the summer months.

Boys' League Springs Ahead

A breakfast on February 8 at Elmer's House of Pancakes held by Fall Boys' League for the new Spring cabinet started the term rolling.

Some ideas passed on to the new cabinet were plans for a pool tourney, an interclass football game, and a gigantic car rally.

Representatives from the Boys' and the Girls' League joined forces and talked to Madison's neighborhood residences about open campus policies. A new understanding between the surrounding community and Madison students was hoped to be established.

The Spring Boys' League got the athletic standings board, at the landing above the cross roads, back to serving the students. Many name plates for this PIL board which were removed last year were replaced.

Other plans were a possible weight lifting meet with Grant and a pennant drive.

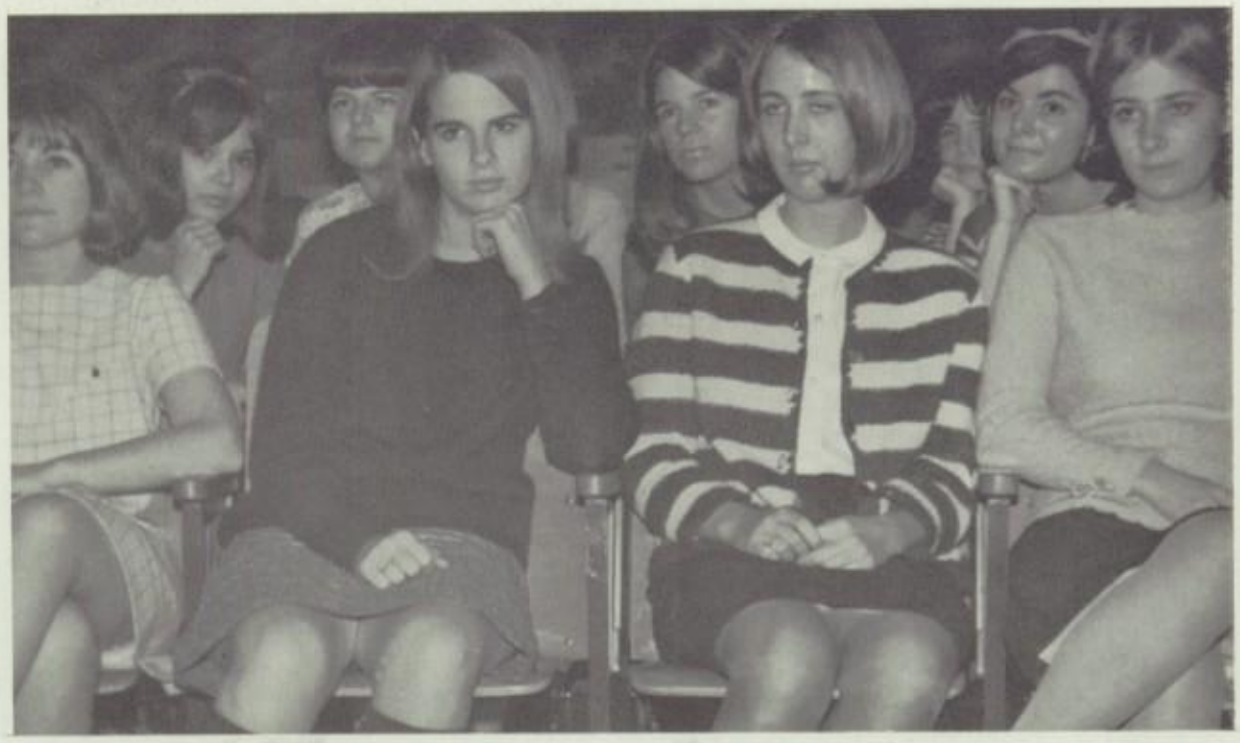
Senior counselors Mrs. Winter and Mr. Taylor aid seniors in time of a dilemma.



Seniors listen attentively while they are given information on graduation accessories.

The End of the Beginning

"'68 is Really Great", the theme initiated freshman year, summarized the feeling of the senior class. Seniors anxiously filled out scholarship applications and waited apprehensively for college acceptance. SAT and achievement tests occupied many seniors' attention from November through March, while others looked forward to the service and life in the business world. Counselors Mrs. Winter and Mr. Taylor were available to answer innumerable questions.

Excitement mounted as seniors chose their announcements with the Madison seal in Columbia blue and gold, selected cards, and had gowns fitted for the climax of graduation. The class sponsored a dance to raise money for the Prom, which highlighted traditional Senior Week.

For the graduating class of '68, the year was a time of self examination, decision, and new awareness for the coming years.

Working together is all part of the plan.

As their third year drew to an end the juniors realized that the future is one step closer. College conferences and scholarship meetings were part of the preparation for the coming years. The spirit of the juniors was not dampened, however, as they prepared for their final year.

Twenty three delegates, elected in English classes, met with cabinet to discuss activities and money-making projects. Juniors worked on committees carrying out the business arrangements for the Christmas Formal. These committees were responsible for securing chaperones, bids and refreshments and for cleaning up afterwards.

Guidance, direction and advice were given to the 597 students of the Junior class by their counselors Miss Kohns and Mr. Blake.

Guiding the sophomores through their second year at Madison were counselors William Olson and Margaret Gottlieb.

The sophomore class has been very active during their first two years at Madison. This year they have taken part serving on many various committees including the Christmas Formal and the code of dress committee.

The class of '70 has many other fine points including sports and academics. The J.V. football team has an outstanding 5-2 record. The spirit soared high as the peppy J.V. rally led the sophomore class in winning its first class competition yell.

In view of academics the sophomore class had approximately 80 students out of 589 on the honor roll.

Dave Coate, president, and Janie Dressler, vice president worked with the class cabinet and the English delegates to plan class activities. Mr. Olsen and Mrs. Gottlieb, the sophomore counselors, were on hand throughout the year to iron out problems involving every day high school life.

The Metamorphosis

Enthusiastic freshmen first discovered high school when attending orientation day, held late in August. The students were introduced to the school, its functions and the faculty members. In adjusting to high school, schedule changes was one of the biggest hurdles.

One hundred freshmen particiapted in an experimental program developed by Mrs. Bushnell. The students will have the same English and Social Studies teacher for their high school career. The main focus of the experiment is the individual learning goals of the students. Four freshmen teachers will carry out the planned program. Writing of the class constitution was the next project. Upon completion of the constitution, the freshmen elected class officers. Counselors, Miss Jamison and Mr. Rumble, spent much time and concentrated effort with the freshmen activities.

ENGLISH

A Learn-In

Happenings permeated Madison's English department as students and teachers became involved in the English of today. While covering tradtional literature, including Chaucer, Shakespeare, and Thoreau, the program also introduced new material to all classes. The curriculum emphasized various aspects of language through studying structural grammar, lexicography, speech analysis, dialects in America, and the history of English. To bring new methods of grammar into the classrooms, the Portland Public Schools English department offered a six-week transformational grammar course to English teachers this spring. Madison's English department made it possible for all English classes to attend the Portland State College Reperatory Theater's production of three plays. To provide an outlet for creative thinking, the curriculum also included drama, journalism, speech, and forensics classes as electives.

Freshmen Genesis

Serving as the focal point in the freshman schedule, the combined English and social studies classes introduced students to great literature and world history as well as to methods of high school study and learning. Highlights of the year included a field trip to the Portland Art Museum and the main library and a visit with missionaries from ten countries. The department initiated a new teaching method to four combined classes in an experiment to help the students know the teacher and subject better. Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Petery, Mrs. Johnson, and Mr. Utz team-taught the classes this year and will continue to instruct the same students until they graduate.

Up With People

It is essential for tomorrow's citizens to understand and appreciate today's challenging world, stated teachers in the social studies department. Students in Mr. Jarrett's senior social studies classes bought shares of stock with a hypothetical ten-thousand dollars and eagerly watched the New York Stock Exchange in the newspapers for any signs of sudden wealth. Opinion polls and controversial speakers brought the outside world in closer contact with the students in Mr. Page's social studies classes. In addition to new textbooks, American history classes employed records and films to acquaint students with the heritage of the United States. The social studies curriculum also included sociology and psychology, both one-semester courses, for seniors who wished to enrich their social studies knowledge. Western Civilizations and Russian history were cancelled this year as a result of the levy failure.

MATHEMATICS

Math Maneuvers Minds

Emphasis on the future enlivened the mathematics department in both scientific and business areas. Diversified courses offered opportunities for advanced study or preparation for practical application. While students in a second-year senior math class—an enrichment course offered to students who took algebra in elementary school—worked with computers and FORTRAN, the consumer math classes planned budgets to encourage realistic adult spending.

Along with new, colorful geometry books, the department added a second-year introduction to algebra class for students who survived first-year introduction to algebra.

Learning is Fun

Emphasis on personal success and individual strength formed the foundation for teaching in the special education department. To build knowledge on fundamentals, to emphasize what the student can do, and to become involved in what is to be had were the main objectives, according to Mr. Ralph Nelsen, special education teacher. The students did what they found interesting, as the teachers endeavored to make it a class that was fun by engaging the students in different activities. Although the department includes English, social studies, mathematics, and arts and crafts, many students enriched their schedules by taking classes outside the special education curriculum. Film projectors, radios, slide projectors, and record players were employed by the department to add interest.

SCIENCE

Happenings in a Test Tube

In the world of science, curiosity leads to investigation which will, if properly conducted, lead to discovery. Science teachers engaged students in this learning cycle by employing the "learning by doing" method, a current concept of scientific study introduced by the Biological Science Curriculum Study, Physical Sciences Study Committee, and the Chemical Education Materials Study programs used by the science department. Through coordinated films, textbooks, and experiments, the curriculum offered the student an opportunity to discover scientific fundamentals for himself rather than learning by memorization. The program also included diversified equipment. Physics and chemistry students used materials from stroboscopes to hydrochloric acid, while biology and physiology students progressed from incubators for hatching chicks to dead cats.

Foreign Spice

As different parts of the world come in closer contact with each other, it becomes necessary to understand and appreciate the cultures and languages of other countries. To help foreign language students achieve this goal the department stressed oral and visual methods of learning. In addition to the earphones, records, and tapes, the department acquired new books with coordinated filmstrips, new grammar exercise books, colorful and intriguing newspapers for students on all levels, and new picture aids to help students observe the country they are investigating. The foreign language department also encouraged students to read the many books printed in French, Spanish, and German available in the Madison library.

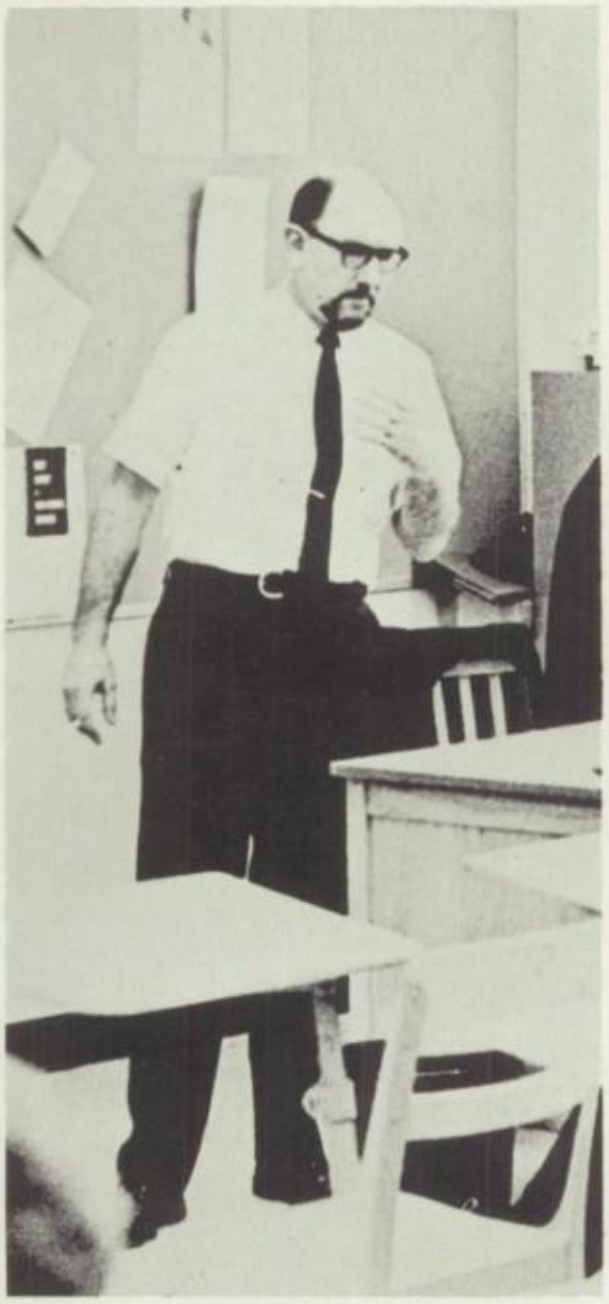
PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Body Building, Bulge Battling



Sophomore health students learn good points of personality.

Effects of new ideas were felt in the physical education and health program. Mr. Larry Keck, physical education department chairman, stated that there is a heavier emphasis on individual gain now than ever before. Miss Frances Gannon, girls physical education teacher, stressed the idea that physical education should be fun as well as beneficial. Equipment such as a new balance beam and a new trampoline were part of the program, as well as the conventional exercises which had such humorous names as "squat thrusts" and "jumping jacks". Increased emphasis was placed on involvement in favorite sports for pleasure rather than competitive athletic ability. Participation in such activities as golf, basketball, softball, and field hockey induced many students to become active in extracurricular sports. In addition to the study of personal hygiene, mental health, and physical disease, the health program included a unit in driver education.

Tomorrow's Business World

The business education department offered a variety of courses for students who wished to prepare for business vocations, as well as for future personal clerical needs. Shorthand, advanced typing, office machine practice, and bookkeeping were recommended for students planning on business careers, while typing, general business, business law, briefhand, and recordkeeping introduced clerical skills to other students. Distributive education and office practice courses gave students credit for working outside the school while taking the required classes. Experience in applying for jobs and holding interviews was part of the creative job research program. To give students an opportunity to assist teachers with their filing and to relieve the load on secretaries, the department added a clerical assistant course to the curriculum.

Kaleidescope of Creativity

Art is man's expression of what is beautiful or meaningful. Fascination for beauty is not inborn; it is gained through experience and environmental influence. According to Miss Marjory Goldsmith, art department chairman, "to arouse interest in art is the teacher's responsibility. 'Turned-on' teachers are necessary to achieve this goal. As a result, anyone who has the desire and interest can learn the fundamentals of art."

To create excitement about art, the art department engaged the students in African textile design, imaginative pottery, original jewelry, and colorful posters painted in the style of classical and contemporary painters.

Rings and Things

Modern equipment and imaginative minds helped industrial arts students develop their creativity. The industrial arts classes prepared students for industry, college, and employment. After learning basic fundamentals and developing skills, students worked on individual projects. The department offered beginning industrial art, electronics, metal shop, wood shop, stage craft, and mechanical drawing. Young industrialists made jewelry, decorative objects, and household articles. Stage craft classes designed and constructed props, costumes, and sound effects for drama productions.

Making a House a Home

Madison's home economics department proved that homemaking classes are helpful not only to future housewives, but to everyone. Programs covered in home economics prepared students for college, employment, or family living. The department offered a four-year home economics program to all girls. Students cooked wholesome foods, designed and sewed their own wardrobes, learned to care for children, and acquired understanding of social relationships. Also included in the program was a home nursing course which enabled students to become volunteer workers in local hospitals. A special course introduced homemaking to junior girls who did not take home economics as freshmen and sophomores. Coed home economics classes introduced seniors to family management, budget planning, and housekeeping methods.

Commotion in the Conservatory

What magnetized music students to the instrumental and vocal groups in Madison's music department? They became involved because Mr. Norman Street and Mr. Ted Ashizawa cared enough about these young musicians to want them to know and understand as much as possible about music. While Mr. Ashizawa instructed choral students in a voluntary rudiments class, Mr. Street taught instrumental students in an extracurricular music theory course. The choral groups sang songs in many foreign languages, including German, French, and Hebrew. Preparation for the National Music Educators' Conference in Seattle occupied the instrumentalists.

CONSTITUTION STAFF

Publication In Progress

Gathering information, selling ads, having pictures taken and enlarged, writing stories and planning pages were some tasks the CONSTITUTION Staff completed to put out Madison's bi-weekly newspaper. After learning the basic procedure and make-up of a newspaper in first year journalism, students were eligible for the CONSTITUTION Staff.

Karen Watson, editor, advised by Mrs. Jean Disney, headed the staff which introduced several innovations. Students were given a chance to voice their opinions on school issues in the CONSTITUTION through writing letters to the editor. Editorial policy was revised. Formerly editorials were approved by the principal, Walter Erickson; this year they were evaluated by a student board counseled by Mrs. Disney.

FEDERALIST STAFF

Mounting Madison's Memories

Mounting Madison's memories?

An all-girl staff worked together to produce the 1968 FEDERALIST. During the first term first-year students became acquainted with basic procedures and terminology of year book production, while senior editors completed section planning and organization. To meet the inflexible deadlines, staff members spent hours scheduling pictures, ordering prints, writing and typing copy, and pasting down pictures and copy, before finally sending the pages to the printer.

Kris Overlie, editor, and Barb Rommell, assistant editor, advised by Mrs. Mary Ellen Conklin, co-ordinated this team effort. Creating a new style of layout organization and striving for unity were two of the goals set by this year's FEDERALIST Staff.

Filling requests from faculty, clubs, organizations, and the FEDERALIST and CONSTITUTION Staffs occupied the time of the photo and art staffs. Both groups worked many hours during school and in their spare time creating pictures and posters.

Photo staff members, under the leadership of Mr. Verlund Kimpton, took many pictures of all phases of Madison life. They took, printed, and enlarged pictures to the exact sizes specified by the publications staffs. This year the photo staff handled approximately 2,000 pictures for the FEDERALIST Staff alone.

The art staff painted, silk-screened, and chalked posters and banners to publicize Madison's activities. With a busy schedule of three to five posters a week, the staff members still found time to work on a few of their own projects. Under the guidance of Mrs. Ronda Darby they planned each poster, using a variety of printing styles.

The Wonderful World of Books

Research material was made available to all students through the combined efforts of four staffs. The library, book room, and resource center contained books, magazines, periodicals, clippings, and records, while the A. V. crew handled the audio-visual material. The library and resource center were open to all students during their study halls and spare time. The library helpers organized the study area and made certain that all books had been returned. Mrs. Nancy White and her student helpers typed and duplicated teaching aids for the faculty and administered make-up tests.

In the book room Mrs. Peggy Kernan and her student helpers mended books, assigned sets of books to classes, took inventory, and kept a supply of maps and other visual aids. Advised by Mr. John O'Donnell, the A. V. crew assigned, delivered, operated and repaired projectors and other equipment for the faculty.

Students Do Their Part

Students did their part to help Madison as student store helpers, cafeteria helpers, and teacher assistants. Under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Ryan, the student store staff handled all of Madison's money matters. In addition to selling supplies, student helpers staffed the ticket sales booths, handled all of the lost and found items, kept records of all Madison finances, and took inventory. Staff members gained experience for possible future employment while working in the store. Students also assisted cooks in preparing and serving lunches while earning money. Other students worked directly under one teacher as business clerical assistants or teacher assistants. Students typed letters, filed, graded papers, and took attendance while receiving credit for their help.

SECRETARIAL AND COUNSELING STAFF

Helpful Helpers

Adults and students worked together in the counseling area and office to keep Madison running smoothly and created an atmosphere of helpfulness and efficiency. Student staffs consisted of student secretaries, counselor helpers, and switchboard operators. There were many jobs involved with taking care of all the secretarial matters at Madison. Mrs. Beth Edmond, Mrs. Shirley Lombard, Mrs. Roberta Shoop, and Mrs. Jessie Smith and their student helpers fulfilled their tasks such as making up schedules, typing bulletins and absentee lists, recording grades, filling information, and handling correspondence and transcripts. In addition to Madison students, the secretaries were personal secretaries to the administrators.

Mrs. Doyne McKinney, counseling area secretary, typed counselors' bulletins, filed students' records, and acted as personal secretary to all of the counselors, with the assistance of student helpers.

What Would We Ever Do Without Them?

What would Madison be like without hot lunches, clean halls, repairs, band uniforms, or banquets? Students forget that these opportunities are the result of many adults' efforts inside and outside the school. With numerous activities dropped this year, due to the levy failure, the P.T.A. and Dad's Club made possible many important extras, including the Harlem Clowns-Faculty basketball game, Back-to-School night for parents, the forensics budget, the Father-Daughter and Father-Son banquets, golf and bowling tournaments, and the Pancake Breakfast.

Meanwhile, within the school, the frequently forgotten cafeteria cooks and building custodians served Madison students lunch, kept a spotless building, and provided those many helping hands often needed to open a door, set up a table, or prepare for a dance.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Forty-six members from the class of '68 received bids at the end of their junior year telling them of their acceptance into the National Honor Society. The most important factor in becoming a member was acquiring an accumulative grade point average of 3.6 or better during all four years of high school. Character, leadership, and service to the school were also considered by a membership committee before a student was named to this honorary club.

Jim Ouchi was elected president, and Dave Peterson served as vice president. Mr. Ralph Ennis served as advisor.

During the month of February, four members of the National Honor Society, selected on the basis of their intelligence, college board scores, gradepoint, and speaking ability, appeared on the high school quiz program, "High-Q." Although the four participants, Bob Suva, Dave Peterson, Jim Ouchi, and Leslie Parson, narrowly lost, they did earn a World Book Atlas for the library.

DOLLIES

PEP CLUB

Madison Dollies, dressed in their new red and blue uniforms, promoted spirit and provided half-time entertainment at home games. Tryouts for Dollies were held in the spring of 1967. Practices were held during the summer vacation and new outfits and routines were planned. The Dollies met eighth period every day and once a week with choreographer, Anne Truax, 1965 Madison graduate. Besides performing for sports events and school activities, the Dollies also marched in the Rose Festival Parade.

Giving moral support with spirit and enthusiasm, the Pep Club cheered the Madison teams on to victory. Throughout the football season the girls formed large "M's" on the field to show the teams that they were behind them all the way. To present the varsity basketball team, the members held the traditional spirit hoop. During the Pep assemblies the girls aided the rallies with pompom motions and yells. The Pep Club was under the leadership of Terry Harper, president, and Miss Francis Gannon, advisor. Madison saw a change in uniforms as the girls wore simple white blouses.

DECA (Distributive Education Club of America) members began the year's activities by attending the Board of Governors' meeting in Salem where state officers were elected. Senior Toni Odum was elected State Historian. A city-wide banquet was held in October to install all DECA officers. Much time was spent in the spring preparing for the State Leadership Conference held in Portland. Contests were held in various business fields including advertisement, merchandising, salesmanship, and display. Winners were sent to Chicago to compete in the National Tournament. Madison's DECA ended the year with a student-employer banquet.

Second and third year speech students, under the leadership of Mrs. Warner, represented Madison twice a month in city-wide speech and debate meets, two held at Madison. Experienced speakers traveled to college campuses to participate in invitational tournaments. The annual state speech meet was held at Linfield College in February where Madison was represented by her most outstanding students.

Honors Of Accomplishment

Through the American Field Service program, a petite, energetic girl was brought to Madison from her home in Bien Hoa, South Vietnam. Dung Thi Nguyen will be in the United States for approximately one year. After finishing at Madison, she and other students will visit Washington, D.C. and meet the President.

To be chosen for the A.F.S. program, Dung (pronounced You-um) filled out an application after successfully passing the required examinations. She stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rich. Nancy Rich, a senior at Madison, was her American sister.

When she was first asked what she thought of her American high school, she replied, "Madison is a very big school and very beautiful". Her subjects included English, social studies, French, typing, senior math, and co-ed home economics. She said that her favorite subjects were French and math.

Promoting dramatic activities is the purpose of Madison's National Thespian Club. As a part of the year's activities, the club sponsored various assemblies such as The Brick and the Rose. Selling insurance to help finance the trip, Thespians participated in the State Thespian Conference. Advanced members participated in the twelfth National Thespian Conference at the University of Indiana.

Madison's Quill and Scroll, the Marshall Dana Chapter, is an international honorary society for high school journalists. Students selected for membership earned a "B" or better grade in journalism or publications over the first period. Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Erickson officiated the induction banquet for new members, which was held at "Rickshaw Charlie's". The members received an informative magazine published by the national headquarters and became eligible to compete in journalistic competitions.

Debbie Lindemann and Jeff Hays, 1967-68 representatives from Madison, were selected by last years representatives and the activities director. Before school started, Jeff and Debbie took part in a leadership camp at Mt. Scott Training Center. They attended meetings held at the Hilton Hotel every third Monday. Their main project was lining up the Christmas Stockings with the Girls' League. Throughout the year they worked the Red Cross Headquarters, giving parties for the elderly people in hospitals and helping the Junior Red Cross representatives in the grade schools.

DRAMA

Behind The Scenes

Madison's plays and assemblies were made possible by the stage crew, assembly committee, theatre board, and costumier. During the school year, the stage crew spent several hundred hours of their free time in set designing, lighting, carpentry, scenery, and drapes. The assembly committee was composed of volunteers from the student body; they suggested possible assemblies and assisted in the preparation and staging of assembly programs. Members of the theatre board, selected according to their ability and interest in specific areas of the theatre, managed general activities such as the orientation of first year drama students and the state and national drama conference. The costumier designed and sewed elaborate costume wardrobes for all performances.

The orchestra initiated their fall activities with the presentation of the eleventh annual Thanksgiving concert, followed by preparation for the up-coming Christmas assembly. With the arrival of the new year, the girls excitedly designed and sewed blue velveteen formals for the February concert. In the spring, under the direction of Mr. Norman Street, the orchestra practiced intensively for their exchange visitations to Medford Oregon and South Burnaby High School, British Columbia. Aside from these many responsibilities, the fifty-four members still found time to perform at several Madison area grade schools. 1967-68 officers were Karen Burgeson, president; Steve Wallace, vice president; Jan Harrington, secretary; Linda Abercrombie, treasurer; and Debbie Hutson, historian.

Wearing identical black dresses and tuxedos, the Choraliers sang in German, Hebrew, French, Italian, and English at numerous outside appearances, especially during the Christmas season.

The annual choir-band flag-football game, in which the choir has been victorious for the past two years, and the choir initiation potluck were two of the activities enabling singers to become better acquainted. A climax was reached by the choir as they presented portions of Bach's Cantata in German, never before sung by a high school in this area. As a result of this concert, the choir gave a special performance at a neighborhood church. Similar performances have been presented more frequently this year than in previous years.

Wearing distinctive bright red jackets, the Chansonettes furthered the spirit of Madison's choral department. Besides performing in assemblies, at Gateway, and before the Glenhaven P.T.A., the girls were especially busy during the Christmas season with many caroling outings.

"Cadets reflect great promise for the future of choral music at Madison," stated Mr. Ashizawa. The forty voices of the Cadet Choir, selected from the first year chorus, made vital contributions to the Christmas assembly and Spring Concert.

They Made A Mark In History

The 1967 football team set many records previously unattained: the best season record, the first victory over Jefferson, in history, the highest extra point percentage (.96), and the first year to win the division title. The Senators also won their opener for the first time in six years.

A team that sets this many new records must have some players who are considered outstanding. These players were: Mike Higgins, who threw the key block in the "toss play" which gained much of the yardage, Mark Kolbo, co-captain, all city line-backer last year, and man with the "Madman Position", Jim Ross, the "toughest performer" on the line, and Gary Peterson and Mark Davis, two of the best pass runners on the team. Important defensive linemen were co-captain Doug Baxter, Steve Hinson, and Bud Anderson. Coach Keck stated, "Blocking has been the most important key to our success this year," and the offensive line was an important part of the blocking. Also one of the effective parts of the team was the defensive line who held their opponents to a rushing total of 76 yards.

Proof of the Senators skills was shown by those who received recognition outside of Madison. The three boys who made All-City were Mark Kolbo (second year), Jim Ross, Steve Krohn (Honorary Mention), and Jeff Williams was fifth in the state. The boys who received awards for the outstanding performance were Jeff Williams, most inspirational player, Jeff Williams and Mike Higgins, best blockers, and Mark Kolbo, best tackler.

Neither Rain Nor Snow...

After ten years the Portland Interscholastic Leagues Football Jamboree was held again, with the twelve Portland high schools split into two divisions, the red and the green. The red division, composed of Madison, Jackson, Wilson, Roosevelt, Lincoln, and Jefferson, proved victorious. Benson, Cleveland, Franklin, Washington, Marshall, and Grant former the opposition.

Madison contested Washington on September 16, and Marshall on September 22, in the two non-counting pre-season games, each proving victorious for Madison.

A great achievement was claimed on October 29, when Madison defeated Jefferson, formerly victorious for ten years. Led by Tom Wise, Steve Krohn, and Ron Thomas, the Senators made their first two touchdowns in ten plays. Doug Conway added the three PAT's. Throughout the game the Senators held the Demos to one touchdown.

Many of Madison's league scores were far from close, as seen in the Jackson game on October 6. Madison held the Raiders to a rushing total of twelve yards while running up two hundred and three yards. According to Coach Keck, "any time you can take the ball from the other team five times in one game, as in the Jackson game, you will win."

Runs like these won Steve Krohn his Honorary Mention from All State.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The Senators showed strategy and skill when they beat Lincoln on its own field on October 13. Steve Krohn made two of the four touchdowns while Tom Wise and Mike Higgins each scored six points. Doug Conway again proved his kicking ability by making the three extra points.

Physically slight Madison (average team size—165 pounds) toppled mighty Roosevelt, (average team size—185 pounds) on October 20. Tom Wise, Steve Krohn, and Doug Conway again proved to be the outstanding players in the game.

On October 27, the Solons ran the Wilson Trojans into the mud, as Steve Krohn and Mike Higgins shared the scoring honors. Higgins acquired the first touchdown on a 29-yard run in the first quarter. Steve Krohn obtained the two other touchdowns, both in the second quarter. The three extra points were kicked by Doug Conway.

Madison's defensive ability was tested to its fullest extent on November 4, at the Grant game for the city championship. The Senators missed their chance to score with less than two minutes to go, when the Generals stopped Dick LeBrun on the 19-yard line. Several plays later, on a fourth down run, Mike Higgins carried the ball nine yards to the five yard line, but barely missed making the first down. With the ball in the hands of the Generals, it was just a matter of running out the clock before Madison lost a tight defensive game.

FALL RALLY

Spirit Spurs Sports

Through muddy and flooded fields, the fall varsity rally supported the most successful football team in Madison's history. Before the football season opened, the rally helped raise money for the P. I. L. through car washes, paper drives, and selling buttons door to door, and at games. When the season started they gave the players such energy-enriched foods as candy and cookies and a green-iced cake, shaped like a football. Each player was given a lucky penny from the rally to ensure them good luck. Besides making numerous posters and selling ribbons, the rally threw suckers at the Wilson and Grant games, with ribbons stating "LICK THOSE SUCKERS." They also started some new yells such as "OUR TEAM'S BETTER THAN YOUR TEAM."

This year's rally brought a new look to the Madison scene, with uniforms consisting of vivid red low-waisted dresses, window pane Scotch plaid hats, navy gloves, and clear plastic rain coats. The boys were clad in dark gray-blue knickers, long socks, navy sweaters, and "mountaineer" boots.

— Hard Work And Enthusiasm

Under Coach John O'Donnell's stern supervision, last year's freshman team was transformed into this year's junior varsity football team. Starting the season with a game against Washington and ending with a game against Wilson, the total season showed a 5-2 win-loss mark. There were no playoffs in junior varsity or frosh football. The most outstanding players were Bob Spince, Jim Claar; Fred Moore, David Whitaker, and Mark Quesinberry. Mark received the award for the most outstanding JV football player.

To promote the P.I.L. campaign, the JV football and basketball rally volunteered their time and energy to sell buttons door to door, helped at many car washes, and held a car wash of their own. When the sports season opened, they made various posters and at the last game, gave suckers and cards to the players. They introduced some new yells, sticking mainly, however, to the traditional ones. The five girls demonstrated an enthusiastic spirit by making their own uniforms, which consisted of plaid wool skirts with matching jackets, red knee highs, red shoes, and red gloves.

Steve Kebbe, the only player with varsity experience, set the school scoring record with a total of 503 points. This year the Senators obtained 100 points in a single game compared to last year's top score of 87. Recognized as the outstanding players were Steve Kebbe, the tallest boy on the team, measuring 6' 3", Jim Officer at 6' 2", and Tom Wise, the only sophomore player, at 6' 1". Bruce Maxwell's outstanding speed along with Dave Dangler and Mike Higgins' experience and skill helped throughout the season. The reserve players included Bob Lyons, Marv Ross, Jeff Wilcox, Gary Furgason, Steve Holloway and Tom Myers. Portland Coaches chose Steve Kebbe for the All-City team with Bruce Maxwell and Jim Officer chosen for Honorable Mention. The two basketball divisions in the P.I.L. consisted of the red and green teams. Madison played in the red division along with Roosevelt, Wilson, Jefferson, Lincoln and Jackson. Lake Oswego hosted the first pre-season game of the year on December 1, which consisted of a four game tournament. Each team played two six minute quarters. Parkose, Marshall, Lake Oswego and Madison participated. The Madison Senators again played in the Lake Oswego Invitational game on December 8. Madison, along with Lake Oswego, became co-champions. Steve Kebbe made sixty points, setting a new tournament scoring record. Madison's starting team consisted of Mike Higgins, Dave Dangler, Steve Scott, Jim Officer, Steve Kebbe and Bruce Maxwell. The Senators met Cleveland in the first non-counting pre-season game of the year on December 5 with the score reaching 76 for Cleveland and 73 for Madison. Madison nipped Fort Vancouver in a 53 to 51 game on December 12. Steve Kebbe, Jim Officer and Bruce Maxwell proved to be the outstanding players. The first game of division play against Jackson on January 3 Coach Kimpton stated to be "the best team effort of the year." Steve Kebbe, Bruce Maxwell and Jim Officer quickened speed and accuracy giving the Senators a winning score of 77 to 57. With a twenty point lead, the Senators defeated Lincoln on January 5, but on January 9, Wilson defeated the Solons, stopping them with a four point lead. Steve Kebbe scored 27 points in the January 12 game to keep Madison in its regular pace with a victory over Roosevelt. Jefferson, Washington, Cleveland and Benson proved tragic for the Senators between January 16 and January 26, but they made a quick comeback on January 30 and February 2 with victories over Marshall and Grant, a top team in the league. Madison suffered a tight loss to Franklin on February 6, but made a fast recovery when they defeated Lincoln 65 to 46 on February 13. Madison's hopes for second place and a chance to go to State fell on February 16. Fast moving Wilson edged the Solons with a score of 63 to 68. This game was followed by a victory on February 20 against Roosevelt with a score of 69 to 57. February 23 Madison's top five players met defeat in the last game of the regular seaon when Jefferson, the top team in the league, defeated the Senators.

SPRING VARSITY RALLY

"We're Proud Of Our Team"

Neither rain nor snow stopped the spring varsity rally. After a summer of selling, collecting, and washing cars for the P. I. L. money drive, rally members spent many hours after school practicing and organizing pep assemblies. The season opened December 4 with the Lake Oswego Holiday Classic. Ribbons, treats for the boys on game days, and a rally clinic were a big part of the rally's activities. Decorating the boys' locker room and giving the basketball team a cake inscribed with "We're Proud of Our Team" exemplified the rally's encouragement. The rally introduced many new yells such as "MEAT HEAD" and "GILLETTE BLUE BLADE".

The girls' uniforms consisted of white jackets with red, white, and blue plaid trim and matching plaid kilt skirts, red gloves, red shoes, and navy blue knee-high completed their outfits. The boys wore red bermudas, red sweaters with white and blue stripes, red knee-highs, and blue shoes.

Young Solons Dribble Through Season

The Junior Varsity Basketball team, consisting mainly of sophomore and three juniors, started the season with a victorious game against Marshall on December 1 followed by the Lake Oswego Invitational Tournament on December 8. Coach Tom Petke stated, "while only winning six games and losing fifteen, most of the games were undecided until the final quarter." The regular season opened on December 1 with Marshall in the P. I. L. counting games. The games against Wilson and Jackson proved the J. V.'s rebounding skills, with Steve Holloway, Dave Whitaker, Gary Furgason and Bud Baynard working under the boards. The toughest team was Jefferson with a 21 win 1 loss record. Although the score was 42 to 58 ending in defeat for Madison, it proved to be the J. V.'s best game of the season.

Wrestlers Grapple Across Mat To State

The 1968 Wrestling team set three history making records previously untouched. The Wrestling team finished the season with a 10-1 win-loss record. They won the dual-meet championship, and tied with Franklin. Madison stood in eighth place. Allen Coleman, at 136 pounds, took first in the State meet. Kim Biggs, at 123 pounds, and Bud Rogers, at 115 pounds, placed fourth in the State. In addition, Madison went to the city meet, held Grant, and placed second. Jeff Williams and Dan Jones became city champions, and Gary Peterson took second in the dual meet championship.

Mr. Dexter stated, "The 1968 Wrestling team was composed mainly of boys who had been wrestling on the Varsity team since they were Sophomores. This year, six of those boys, now seniors, compiled 201 wins and only 10 losses. Through hard work and dedication they won the dual meet championship for the first time in Madison's history. Individual efforts were unsurpassed by Allen Coleman, who won the State Championship. The tremendous dedication and outstanding accomplishments of this wrestling team will be an inspiration for others to follow."

Senators' Hopes Fulfilled

In the Invitational on December 9, Madison played Rex Putnam, David Douglas, and Marshall with Madison placing third. Second place scorers were Tim Hamberg, Ron Heffler, Kim Biggs, Allen Coleman, Dan Jones, Len Holmes, and Terry Grater. The eight following meets starting off the season brought wins for Madison over Lincoln, Wilson, Roosevelt, Jefferson, Washington, Cleveland, Benson, and Marshall.

On February 2, the Senators overcame Grant with a 1 point lead. The two boys that pinned their opponents were Kim Biggs and Dan Jones. Six other wrestlers scored decisions and Tim Hamberg came to a draw. On February 6, Madison tied with Franklin for first place in the dual competition meet. Madison downed Jackson, February 15, and finished the city meet second to Grant. The city champions were Jeff Williams and Dan Jones. Madison sent six men to the State meet in Corvallis: Allen Coleman, Kim Biggs, Bud Rogers Gary Peterson, Dan Jones, and Jeff Williams. Allen Coleman took first, Kim Biggs and Bud Rogers took fourth.

Desire And Hard Work Help

Completing the season with a 10 win 1 loss record, Madison's J. V. wrestling team took the City Championship title for the second consecutive year. Their only loss to Marshall was considered as Madison's toughest meet. The J. V. season began and ended victoriously over Lincoln and Jackson respectively with scores of 50 to 12 and 44 to 11. As stated by Coach Walker, "just good wrestling and a tremendous desire helped them to win." The outstanding players were Steve Snyder, Glen Holloway, Doug Baxter, Greg Dupont, and Gary Peterson.

Consisting of eight games, the freshman wrestling season was a fair one. Their season record, starting and ending with Jefferson and Benson respectively, consisted of three wins and five losses. Their toughest opponent was Benson, with a score of 20 to 37. As stated by Coach McClain, "Though their size was small, in attitude and desire the freshman wrestling team compared favorably to the teams of the past. There were some outstanding wrestlers, but most of the boys lacked team depth which comes through experience."

As of April 15, the track team had broken many school records. Ken Budlong topped the shot put record he had set last year by more than three feet, tossing the shot 55'9". Budlong, Steve Hinson and Pete Hodges combined to set a new city relay record in the shot put event. The 440-yard relay squad composed of John North, Jim Greer, Gary Furgason and Steve Krohn set a new school record of 44:1 seconds, trimming 6.4 off the previous mark which had stood since 1964. Gary Yusckat, a junior, ran the half mile in 1:59.1 and Bruce Rippe ran it in 1:58.5 in the city relays meet. There were two or three outstanding team members in each of the nine events.

With six regular season meets scheduled, the P.I.L. opener pitted Madison against top-rated Grant. Although the meet ended in a loss for Madison, several Senators placed first in their events: Gary Yusckat, Lenox Irby, Paul Wilkenson, and Bruce Rippe in the mile relay, and Barry Jahn in the two-mile. Steve Krohn tied two school records, the 100 yard dash at 10 seconds and the 220 yard dash at 22.5, defeating Grant's Bob Bates. The following week on April 1, Madison defeated Jackson. The following boys led the meet: Steve Krohn, 100 yard dash; John North, hurdles; Bruce Rippe, the 880; Barry Jahn, the two-mile; Daniels, Irby, Rippe, and Yusckat in the mile relay; and North, Furgason, Greer, and Krohn in the 440-relay. The dual meet between Jefferson and Madison to be held on April 5 was cancelled due to Dr. Martin Luther King's death. In the city relay held at Madison on April 15, some of the important contenders were Berry Jahn in the two-mile; Bruce Rippe and Garry Yusckat in the half-mile; and Steve Krohn in sprints.

Sock It To 'Em!

The boys' first four pre-season matches were against the three best teams in the Metro League, and probably the four best teams in the Portland vicinity. These challenging matches provided experience to sharpen up the team for P.I.L. competition.

Mr. Verle Duckering, coach of both girls' and boys' tennis teams, stated at mid-season that the boys' tennis team had "high hopes of taking second place." Outstanding players were Steve Johnson, Tim Ramis, and Craig Davis. Steve Johnson, number six in 1967 play, made an outstanding improvement to become number one position this season. Jim Morton, part of the number one doubles team, only started playing tennis within this last year.

The girls' tennis team only played two pre-season matches due to poor weather. At mid-season, Coach Verle Duckering stated, "Other than Grant and Wilson, we have reasonable expectations of winning the remaining matches and finishing with a 6-5 win-loss total."

Outstanding players were Nancy and Barbara Pallari. Nancy won a match at State in 1967. The sisters were trying for state tournament in doubles; to qualify they had to be one of the three top teams in Portland's district tournament, held May 6-10.

The girls' golf team, made up of two juniors and four seniors, has been city champions for the past six years and, under the direction of the new coach, Miss Frances Gannon, plans to make it seven. The girls have practiced both on their own and as a team in preparaiton for their matches held Tuesdays and Thursdays at Eastmoreland, Rose City, or Progress golf courses.

The team has not played any scheduled matches up to printing time, but in preseason action they defeated Lincoln at Progress. Outstanding golfers were Chris Mueller, a senior with three letters from previous play, and Barbara Harris, a junior, who lettered last year. Both shot in the 40's.

As of April 15, the boys' golf team had played only two league matches, Wilson on April 12 and Benson on April 15; they defeated both teams. In practice matches, the varsity tied Lake Oswego. Senior Tim Gibson (average 35.5), sophomore Mark McClure (average 35.5), Bill Uhle (average 38), Chris Smith (average 40), and freshman Bob Million (average 40) were the top players. Eric Page, in his first season as golf coach, indicated that the team would be tough this year, having shown real promise in the Lake Oswego match. Strong throughout the lineup, with excellent balance, the varsity was somewhat weakened by the loss of three excellent '67 graduates.

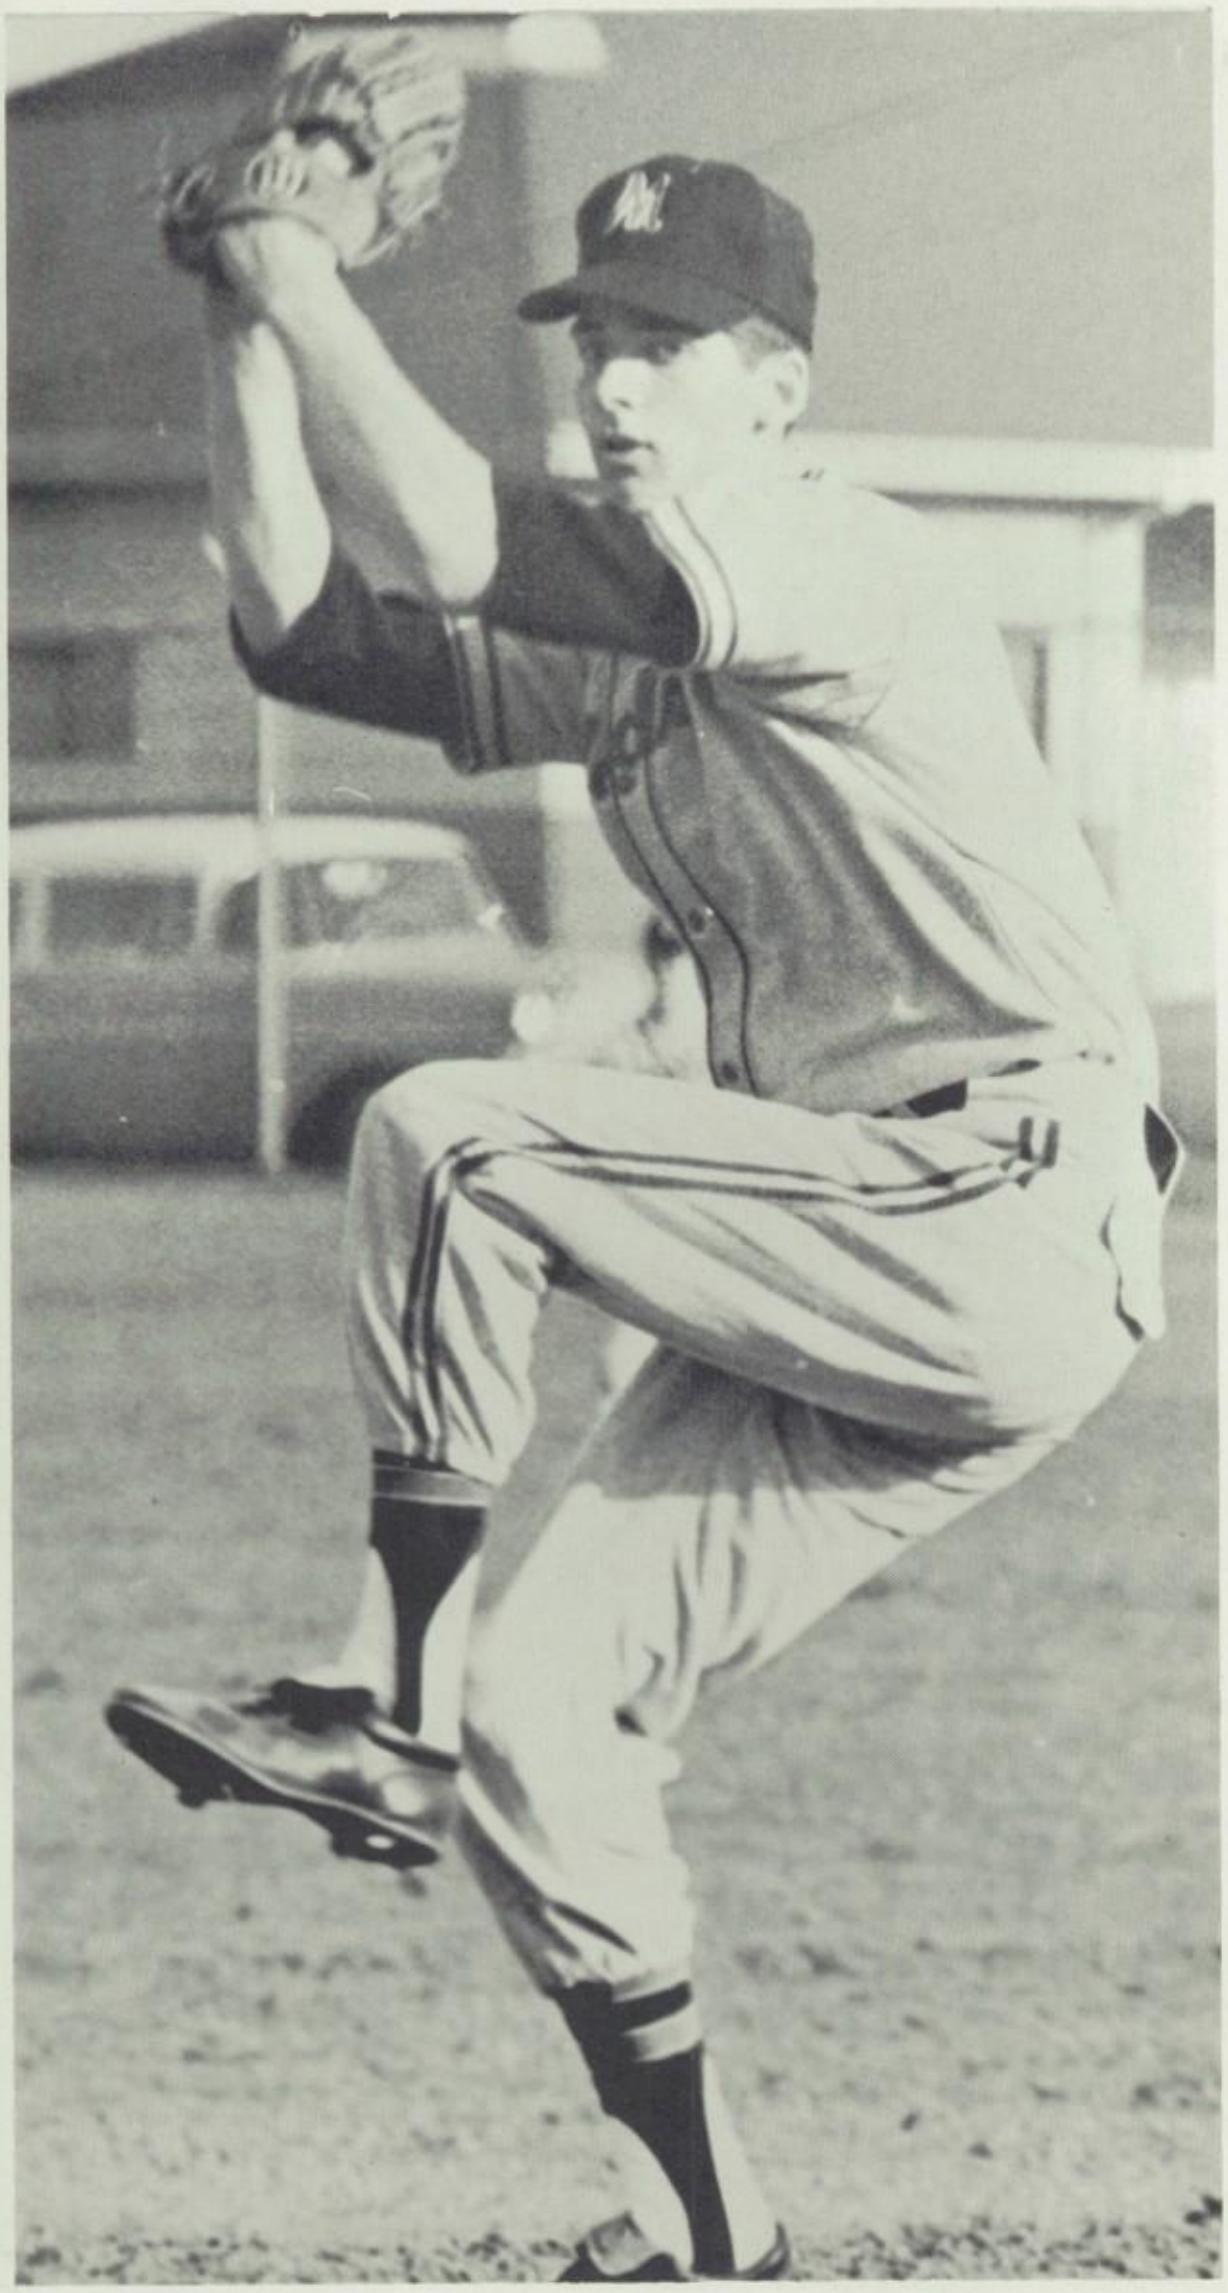
VARSITY BASEBALL



Varsity player fires fastball in the close game.

Starting off pre-season play with a game against David Douglas on March 11, the Solon varsity compiled a 10-6-1 record in the seventeen pre-season contests. Regular season play began one week later than scheduled due to rain. Between April 8 and May 1, the Solons played twenty-two games, opposing each P.I.L. school twice.

The team was a young one, made up primarily of juniors, with no returning varsity out-fielders. However, experience was provided by two-year lettermen Scott Marfell, Dave Dangler, Jim Officer and Tom Wise. According to Coach Richard McClain, the team had strong pitching, fair defense, and erratic hitting. In third place at the end of the first half, Madison was predicted to take second for the entire season, and was rated seventh in the State Top Ten. Co-captains were Scott Marfell and Dave Dangler.

VARSITY BASEBALL

Coach McClain named seven outstanding players: Bruce Maxwell, Steve Kebbe, Dean Tackett, Jim Officer, Tom Wise, Dave Dangler and Scott Marfell. In the first half of season play, catch Bruce Maxwell proved to be the steadiest hitter. Getting seven hits in sixteen times at bat, he tallied a .438, third highest in the P.I.L. He also got five doubles and six R.B.I.'s. Steve Kebbe, first baseman, was second highest, with a 5-14 record for a .357. Dean Tackett, who played both outfield and infield, also batted in the high .300's.

On the pitching staff, Jim Officer and Tom Wise led the P.I.L. both in earned averages and strikeouts. Officer fanned twenty-five, while Wise struck out sixteen. Officer also led in wins. Pitcher Dave Dangler, also with no earned runs, was one of the best right-handers in the league, according to Coach McClain. Scott Marfell, filling in vacancies in both outfield and infield, added defensive strength.

Coach concentrates on strategy.

J.V. Baseball, coached by Mr. Raymond Niehaus, stands with a 1-3 win-loss record. They played Gresham 9-8, Central Catholic 3-12, Lake Oswego 6-11 and Sunset 9-5 in pre-season play. The Solon team had their first league game on April 8 against Jackson resulting in a defeat. Following that, they met Benson and Cleveland, both losses. The pitching staff consisted of Kent Schideland and Jay Roberts. The leading hitters were Dave Gasser, catcher, John Baynard, first baseman, and Larry Linne, right fielder.

Freshman baseball, now in its fourth season of development is proving to be valuable training for the Madison tradition of city champions in baseball. This year's team displayed many new talents, especially in pitching and catching. Looking impressive early in the season were pitchers Jeff Pickthorn, Karl Nickerson, Mike Tupper, and Steve Switzer. Chris Dalengas, Gary Christensen and Dave Sumner were found to be capitalizing on catching.

The frosh defeated Jackson and Cleveland in the first two pre-season games and are looking forward to more stiff competition. Coach Thomas Petke said, "the team's speed, morale, and depth should help them to continue the winning tradition of the great Madison teams of the past."

Small realistic palm trees, shimmering ponds, and the beckoning call of Hawaii greeted Madison students as they entered the annual Boys' League Luau. Tiny lush islands covered with grass and flowers were placed at the ends of the dance floor for couples to enjoy as they hulaed and skated to music supplied by the "Soul Majority".

Even rain failed to dampen students' spirits as they attended the annual after-game homecoming dance. The fall rally sponsored the dance in honor of the newly elected Homecoming Court and Football Court.

Senior Class President Steve Naylor presented Homecoming Queen Peggy Agostino and her court amid loud applause during halftime of the Wilson game. After the Senators' triumph over the Trojans, students excitedly pushed their way to the school cafeteria to dance to the music of the "New Plastic Bag Band" and await the announcement of the Football King. The '67 Football King honors were bestowed upon Mark Kolbo during the final moments of the dance bringing the football season to a festive close.

Banquets Honor Fathers

Dinner, door prizes, a fashion show, and orchids for the girls created an exciting evening of festivities as the annual Father-Daughter Banquet took place. Fathers and daughters dined on swiss steak; then sat back to relax and enjoy the evening's presentation.

A former stewardess from United Airlines spoke to the girls on the flying profession. Howard Wilson, president of the Dad's Club, which sponsors the annual event, gave a short talk to the men in the audience and passed out door prizes, such as stuffed animals, to the lucky girls possessing winning tickets. A fashion show sponsored by the Madison Hi-Board members and their fathers, gave glimpses of fashionable dress from casual date to formal wear.

Good food and hearty male conversation enlivened the evening as fathers and sons enjoyed a night out together in Madison's cafeteria. The hungry men devoured yards of spaghetti at the annual Father-Son Spaghetti Feed. After dinner, the head football coach from Willamette University spoke to the men on his profession as a football coach. Cy Fernandez, a fencing instructor from the park bureau, also gave a brief speech and demonstration on fencing. Afterwards a movie on N. F. L. pro football provided the masculine audience with an exciting glimpse of rugged professional football. At the end of the evening the Dads' Club gave door prizes to men with lucky coupons. Prizes included two tickets to dinner at Obie's, tickets to the Clackamas high-flying circus, and a transistor radio.

Madison's faculty went down to defeat in their second attempt to batter the Harlem Clowns. Struggling against Clowns ranging from 5'9" to 6'7", the lineup included Donn Gassaway and Thomas Petke as forwards, Larry Keck and Verlund Kimpton as guards, and Arnold Bruhn as center. Other enthusiastic faculty players replaced the energetic work-horses during quarters.

The Harlem Clowns, an outlet of The Harlem Globetrotters, have been entertaining sports fans for more than 30 years. They not only portrayed their skill as players, but kept up a continuous performance of amusement for a large crowd.

The Girls League annual Hooperoo game proved victorious for the junior girls as they defeated the senior girls 29 to 18. Miss Gannon and Miss Watkins, physical education teachers, refereed the game. A reception was held in the Little Theater for the players and all other girls who wished to attend.

Madison's "Frail Faculty" stomped the "Spirited Seniors" in both of the Senior-Faculty basketball games. The women's game was the first of the double-header, in which the powerful teachers demonstrated their abilities with a 25 to 15 win. A second attempt for a victory proved fatal for the senior boys as the "Frail Male Faculty" overtook them with a 46 to 34 score.

Madison teachers give a display of their other abilities.

"Somebody please take the teacher with the skinny legs!"

During the middle of the dance, Junior lass Princess Toni Twigger, Sophomore lass Princess Terri Dreheim, and Freshman lass Princess Roberta Smith watched as enior Class Princess Irene Wooldridge was rowned Miss Merry Christmas by Student ody Vice President Bud Rogers.

Barbara Kruetz and Tom Reynolds smile cheerfully as they dance.

Leslie Bailey and Dick LeBrun appear enveloped by the evening's atmosphere.

Couples were able to mingle and converse with friends during the evening.

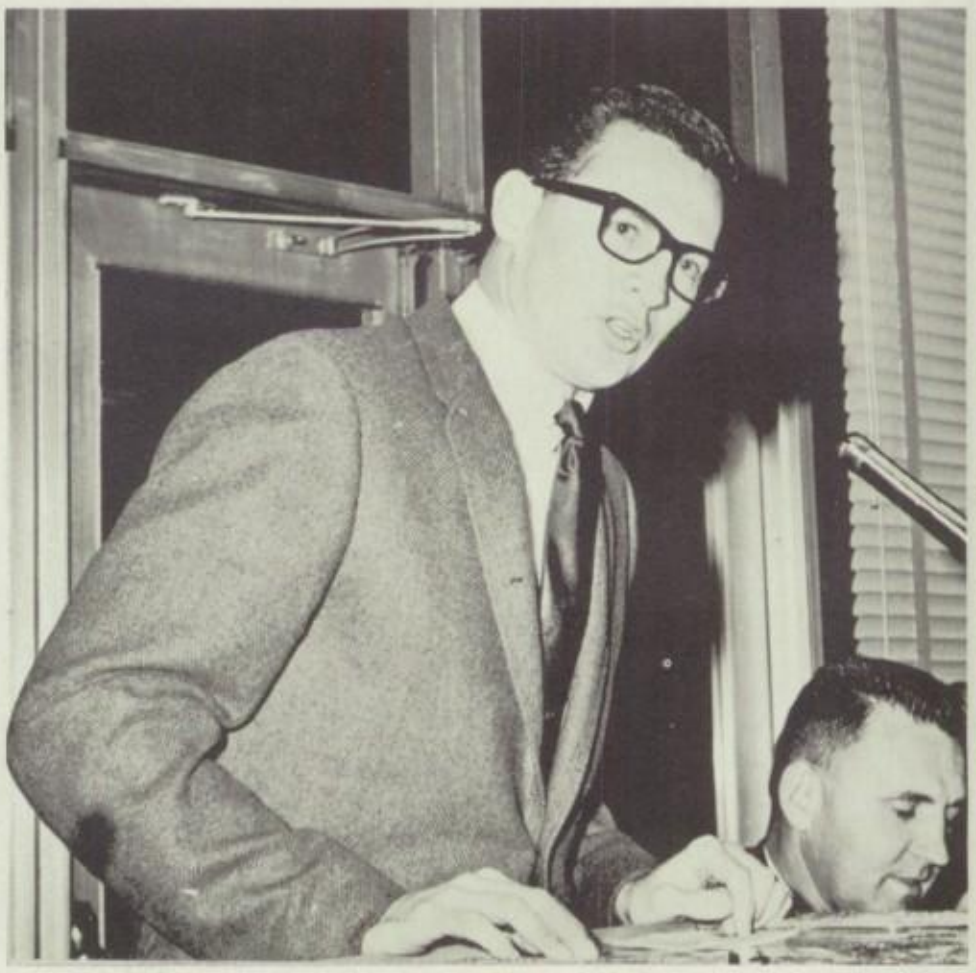
SPORTS BANQUETS

Allen Coleman receives recognition as the outstanding wrestler.

Mr. Erickson congratulates Mike Higgins as the best defensive basketball player.

Mr. Bolin gives Doug Conway a letter for football.

Jennie Groepper gives a short talk.



Head basketball coach, Mr. Kimpton, speaks about his team.

Mr. Keck summarizes the football season.

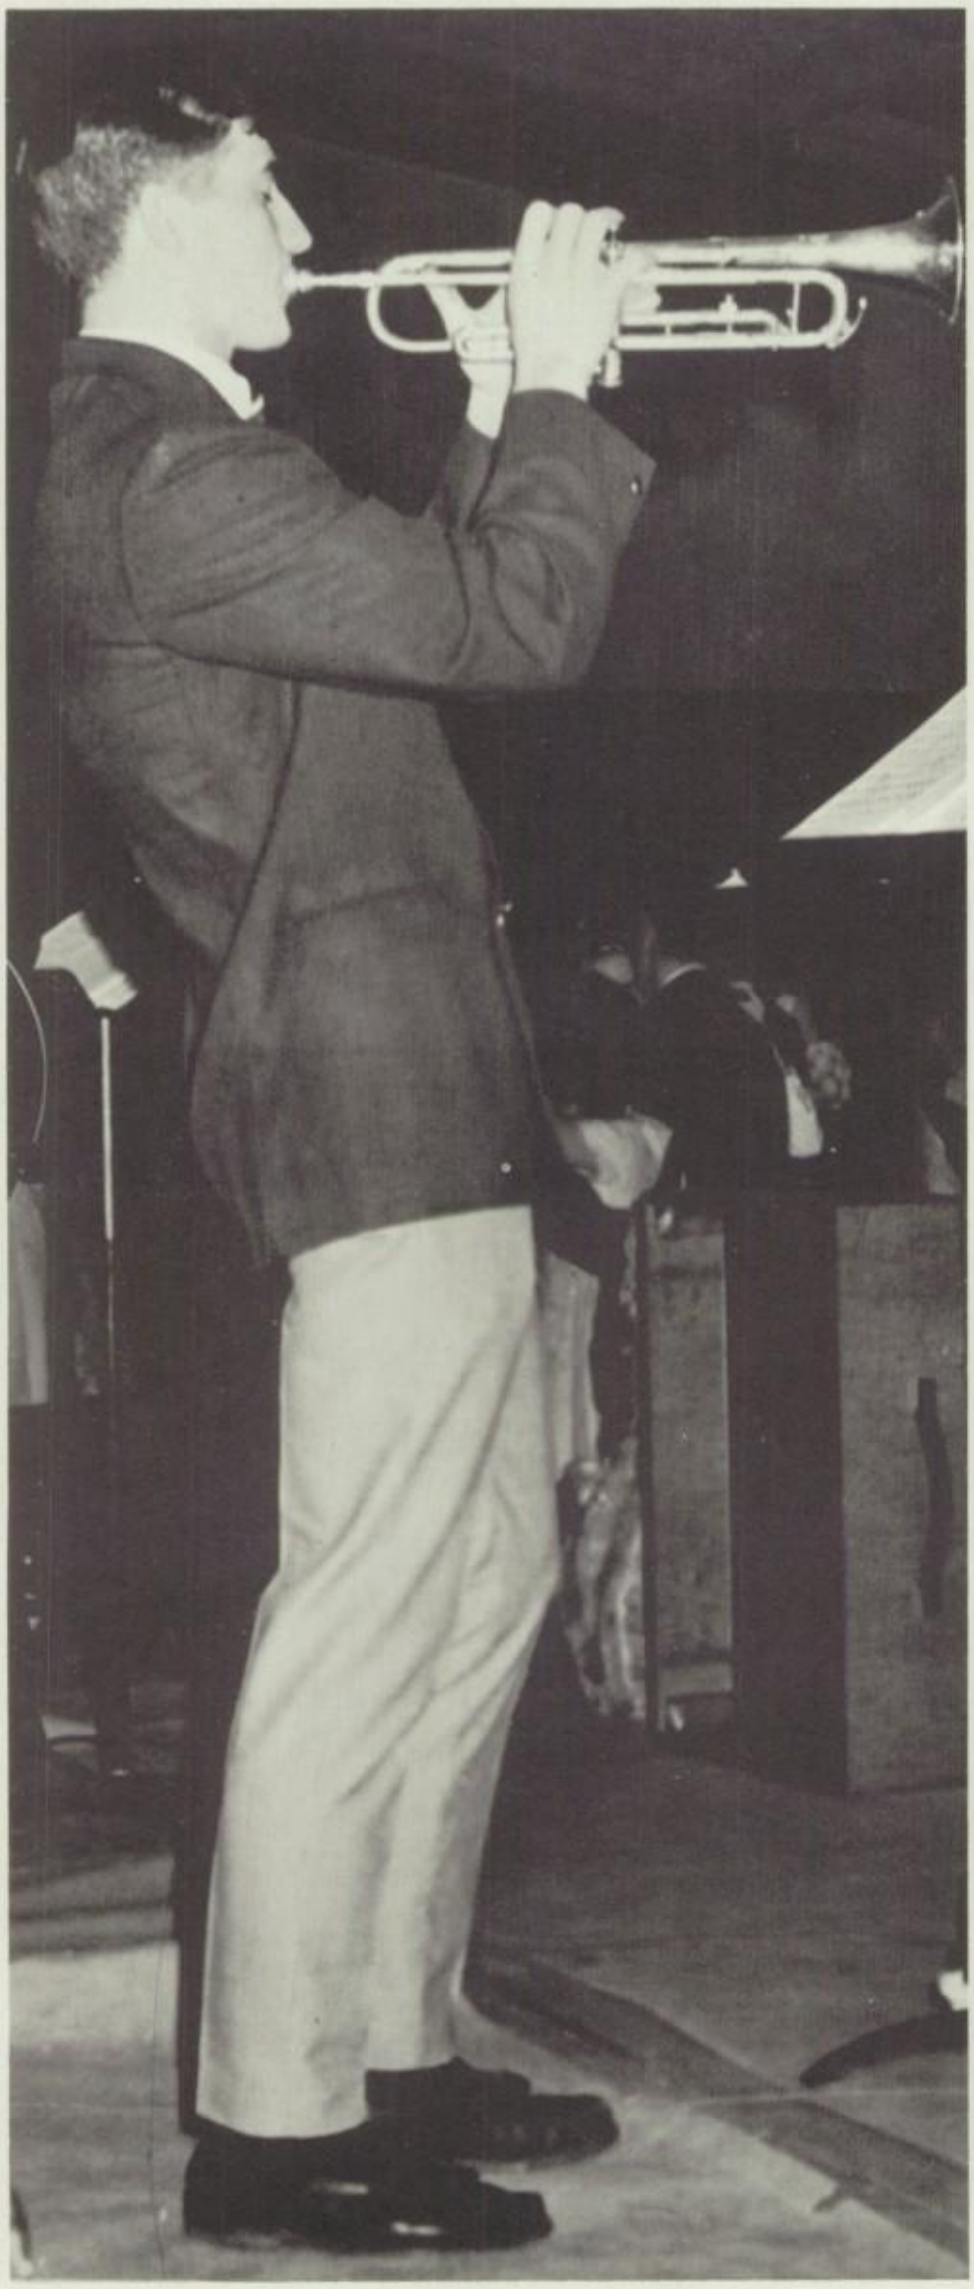
Honored Athletes

Fall and winter sports banquets were held in honor of the athletic teams, their coaches, and the rally squads. Outstanding players were bestowed with their respective awards. Mr. Larry Keck, varsity football coach, served as master of ceremonies at both banquets. Mr. Verlund Kimpton, varsity basketball coach, spoke at the winter banquet. As is the tradition, parents attended the banquet with their sons. For giving spirit and assistance to the varsity wrestling team, Mrs. Kenneth Bosch, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rogers, and Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes received "Hats-Off" awards. Mr. John Lyons received similar recognition on behalf of the basketball team and Mr. Frank Thomas from the football team.

John North, Dick LeBrun, Mark Kolbo, and Doug Conway accept their letters.

SWEETHEARTS' BALL

"A Little Something" provided music for couples to dance to.



Karen Matheny and Doug Oja sit and chat about the evening.

Couples danced to the theme song "Love is Blue."

"Love Is Blue"

A tiny blue bridge, gold - gilded cupid statues, and tall flower covered pillars set the mood for Madison's annual Sweethearts' Ball. Couples entered the dance across an ice-blue bridge onto a floral garden of blue. Soft blue and green artificial flowers encased the room, lending a romantic touch as small tables provided a spot for couples to sit and chat. In one corner of the dance floor lights flashed as couples had their pictures taken on a flower covered swing.

Sweethearts glided across the floor to the theme song, "Love Is Blue," which was played by Dave Hjelt's dance band, The Little Somethings. Refreshments consisted of pale blue frosted cookies and cool lime punch.

What happened to their Sweethearts ?

G. L. Activities Spark Participation

Girls' League President Karen Pratt opened the fall school year with fresh new outfits for her cabinet and new ideas for the term. The major project for the fall year was the establishing of a G. L. Corner where girls could study, talk, or find emergency safety pins or hair spray. During Christmas the girls filled stocking with an assortment of candy and toys for the needy children. The fall year was rounded out with the annual Sweethearts' Ball following the theme "Love Is Blue."

Spring Girls' League President Barb Pallari started her term at a feverish pace with the annual Girls' League Week which opened the spring season. Monday was Cotton Day and Teacher Appreciation Day; Tuesday featured the Early Bird Breakfast; Wednesday, the Mother-Daughter Party and Smile Day; and Thursday marked the Athletics Field Day. The Girls' League showed a full length movie called "How to Steal a Million" in the auditorium after school on Friday.

The annual Girls' League Cotton Day inspired girls to wear springy cotton frocks.

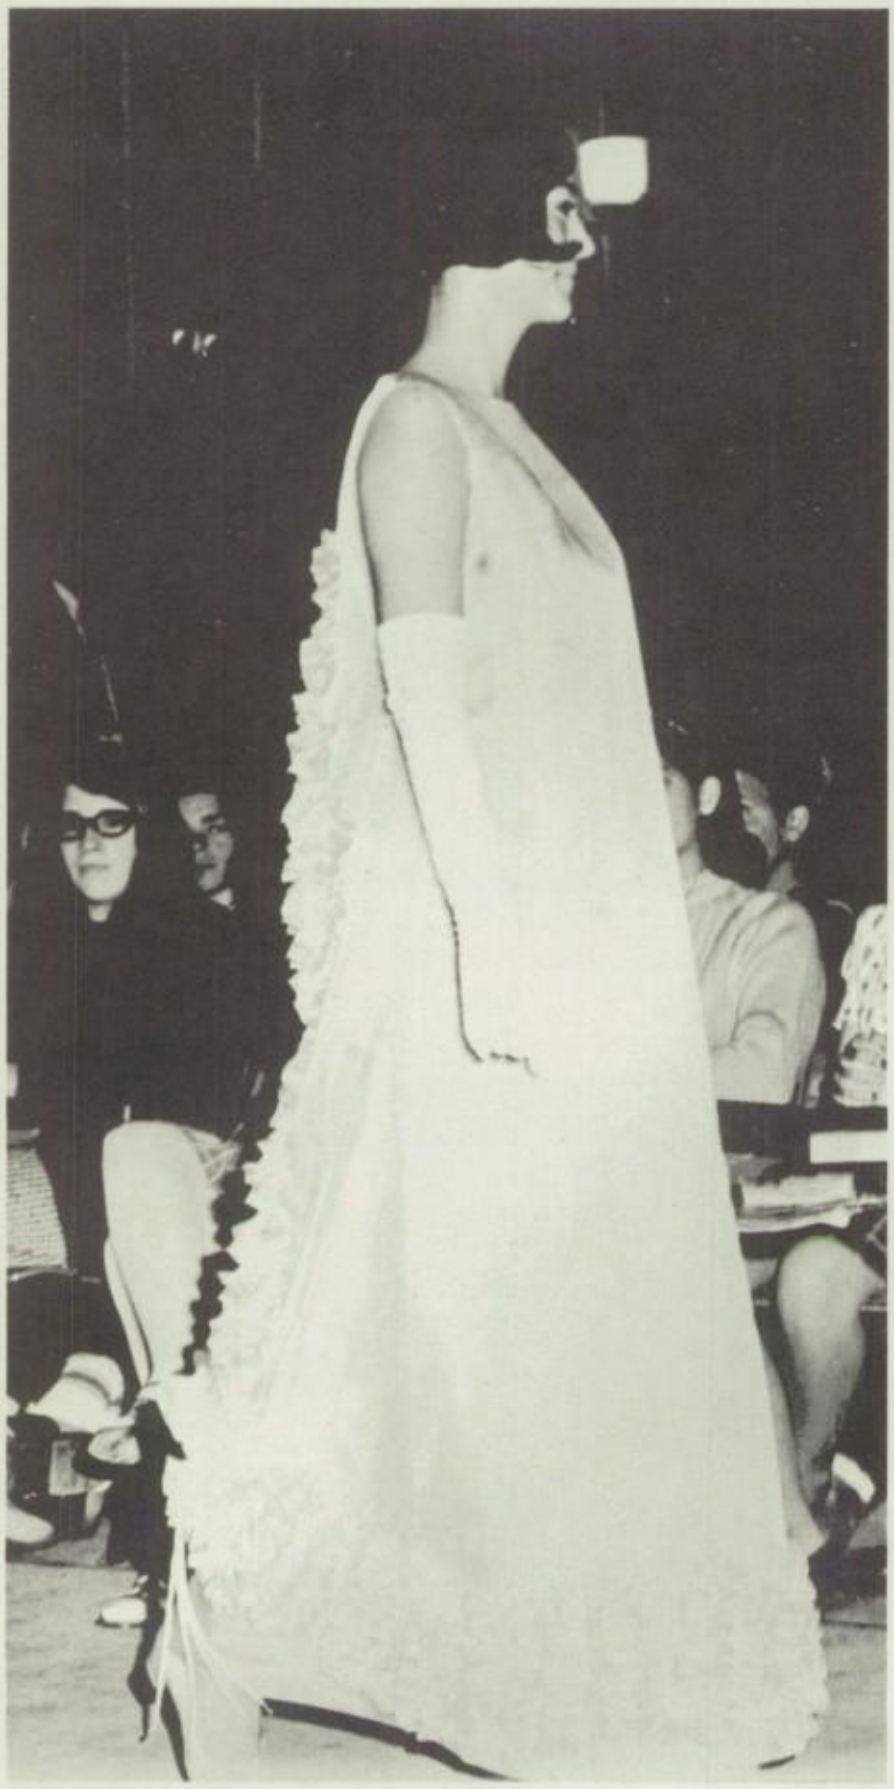
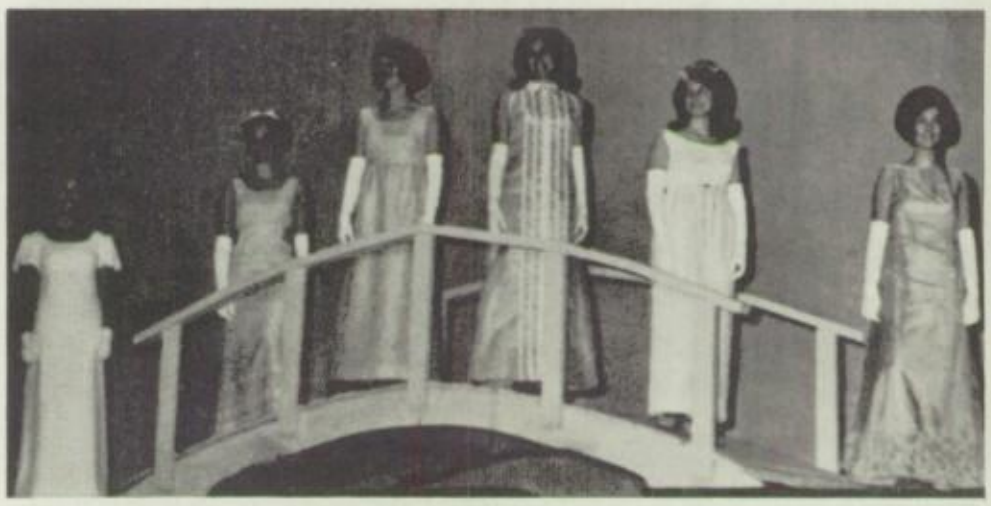
ROSE FESTIVAL



The final assembly required moral stamina.

Mrs. Sparks coached the seniors on their curtsies.



A final moment of thought.

A very happy princess accepts her newly bestowed honor.

Eliminations Involve Fifty Girls

April 11 marked the first nervous day of eliminations as fifty girls filed past five adult judges selected by the Rose Festival Association. Five days later twenty finalists were assembled in the auditorium for the final selection of the court. At the end of the evening six lucky girls were chosen to compete for the title of "princess."

The final day of judgment arrived on April 24. The curtains parted as six scared girls waited in numb silence behind the stage. A sudden burst of color revealed a giant rainbow looming in the background in vibrant shades of the spectrum. On by one the girls crossed a pale magenta bridge to give their speeches and to curtsey to the student body. The pale blue lights reflected under the bridge created a gentle illusion of a small pond, adding a mood of serinity. The final decision was then in the hands of the students.

An anticipation unknown to others.

A very surprised girl.

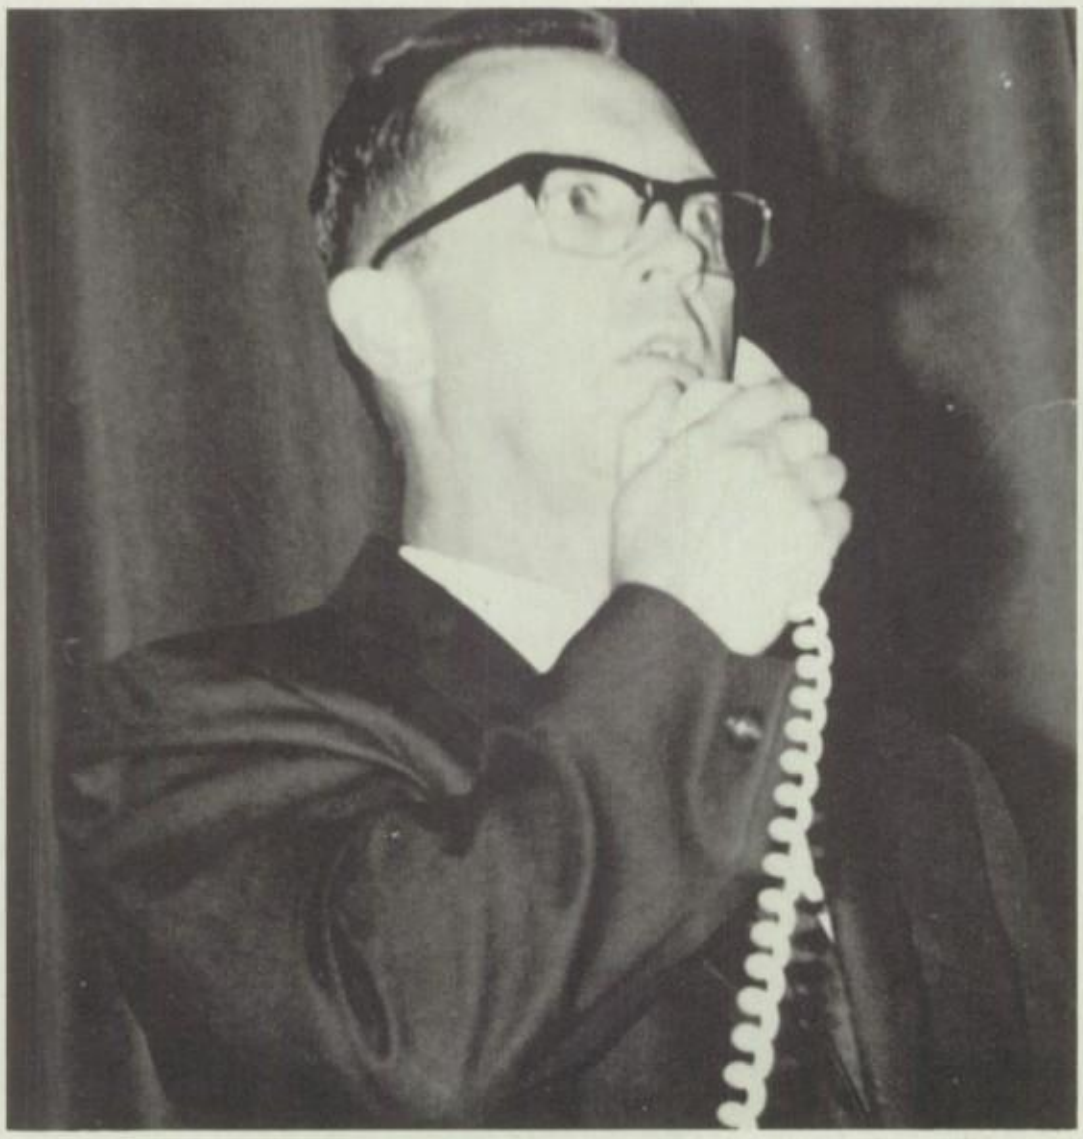
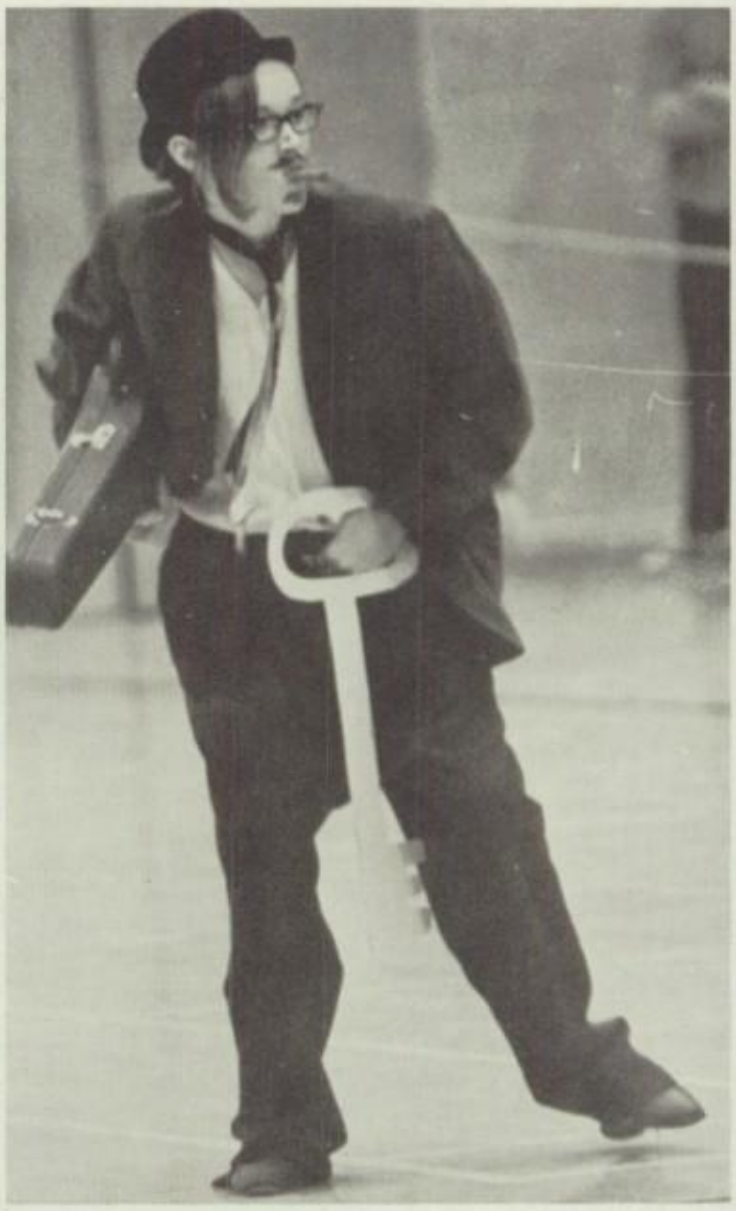
ASSEMBLIES

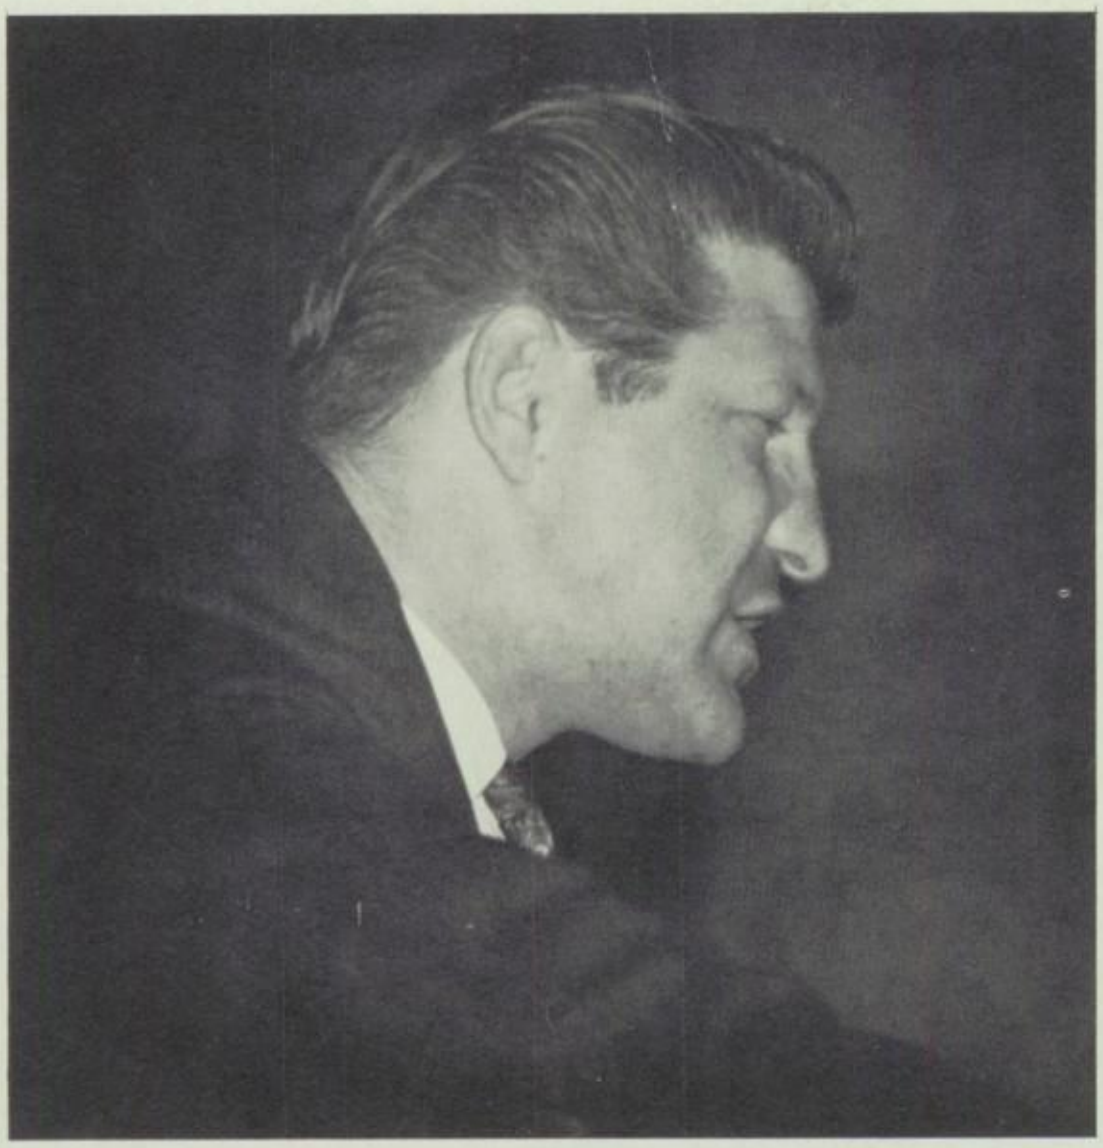


Mr. Thompson contacts home base in Colorado during Norad assembly.



Gay Ladum, senior, locked the Spring Varsity Rally behind closed doors in the opening pep assembly of the basketball season.

Climax of the annual Christmas Assembly was the Hallelujah Chorus sung by the student body and alumni.



Larry Dodson of The Seventh Step Foundation speaks to students on his personal experiences with the rehabilitation of criminals.

Entertaining Education

Students of the University of Portland's drama department present "Archie and Mehitabel" for the annual U. G. N. Assembly.

Dancing to Chopin's waltz, Cathy Scott, junior, demonstrates eight years of practice at the annual Talent Assembly.

As the 1967-68 school year began, the drama department presented the traditional opening assembly, followed closely by the first pep assembly. A fund raising assembly for the U. G. N. during early October featured members of the University of Portland drama department, Madison's choral department, and a local combo. In an attempt to provide variety to the student body, informative progams proved entertaining, as well as educational. Norad and The Seventh Step Foundation featured programs explaining the Early Warning System and the rehabilitation of criminals. The instrumental and music departments were included in assemblies throughout the year, in addition to being featured in the annual Christmas program. A special informative assembly on the effect of drug addiction entitled "The Brick and the Rose" was presented by the drama department in early January. Programs honoring the Rose Festival, Student Organization, and Senior Talent were also presented.

Animated Fantasy

Aladdin and his Wonderful Lamp and Rumplestiltskin opened the fall season of children's plays presented by the drama department. Favorite fairy-tale heroes came to life as the plays moved wide-eyed youngsters into a land of fantasy and magic.

There is much more involved in the production of children's plays than providing entertainment and enjoyment to the patrons. Students' imaginations soar as they design elaborate sets, choreograph dances, sew colorful costumes, and select, cut, and record sound effects for the action in the play. Advanced drama students gain experience in directing and supervising nightly rehearsals.

"None of this matters to them. It's no skin off their noses," the guards commented to each other while playing cards.

Classical Drama Introduced

Rehearsals began in December for Antigone, the drama department's major production of the year. More than seventy hours of consistent after-school practice brought the play to a high level of performance.

The general theme centered on the conflict between an individual's duty to the state and to God. With the assistance of Mr. Paul Paxton, industrial arts instructor, the setting was of modern design, reflecting a definite Greek influence in the construction of authentic Greek columns. Sable curtains surrounded an elevated seating area. The actual performances took place in the center of a vast circular stage. Reminiscent of Athens, the women wore long, flowing dresses to add to the atmosphere of the setting.

Dear Scott,

Hi! This year has been great! It was even fun following you around for awhile. Now that you know all my weak spots. One in particular! I don't know what to write because, as usual I forgot! Youre really a great guy Scott, and I enjoy knowing you and being with you. I've decided the sister! She and your nice relative can talk all they want. It's really been a happy year for me. Then there is always the Rose Parade! I'll probably think of everything I want to say after I close. Be good! (always) Claire should be fun next year! Band too!

Much Love,
Mary

The FEDERALIST Staff extends grateful appreciation to:

Mr. Kimpton and the Photo Staff — especially Bob Klein, Dave Griffith, Bruce Spainhower, Tom Wright, Mike Adams, Terry Parker, Doug Wilson, Charlie Canham, and Nikki Malmquist — for their patience and willingness to work after school hours.

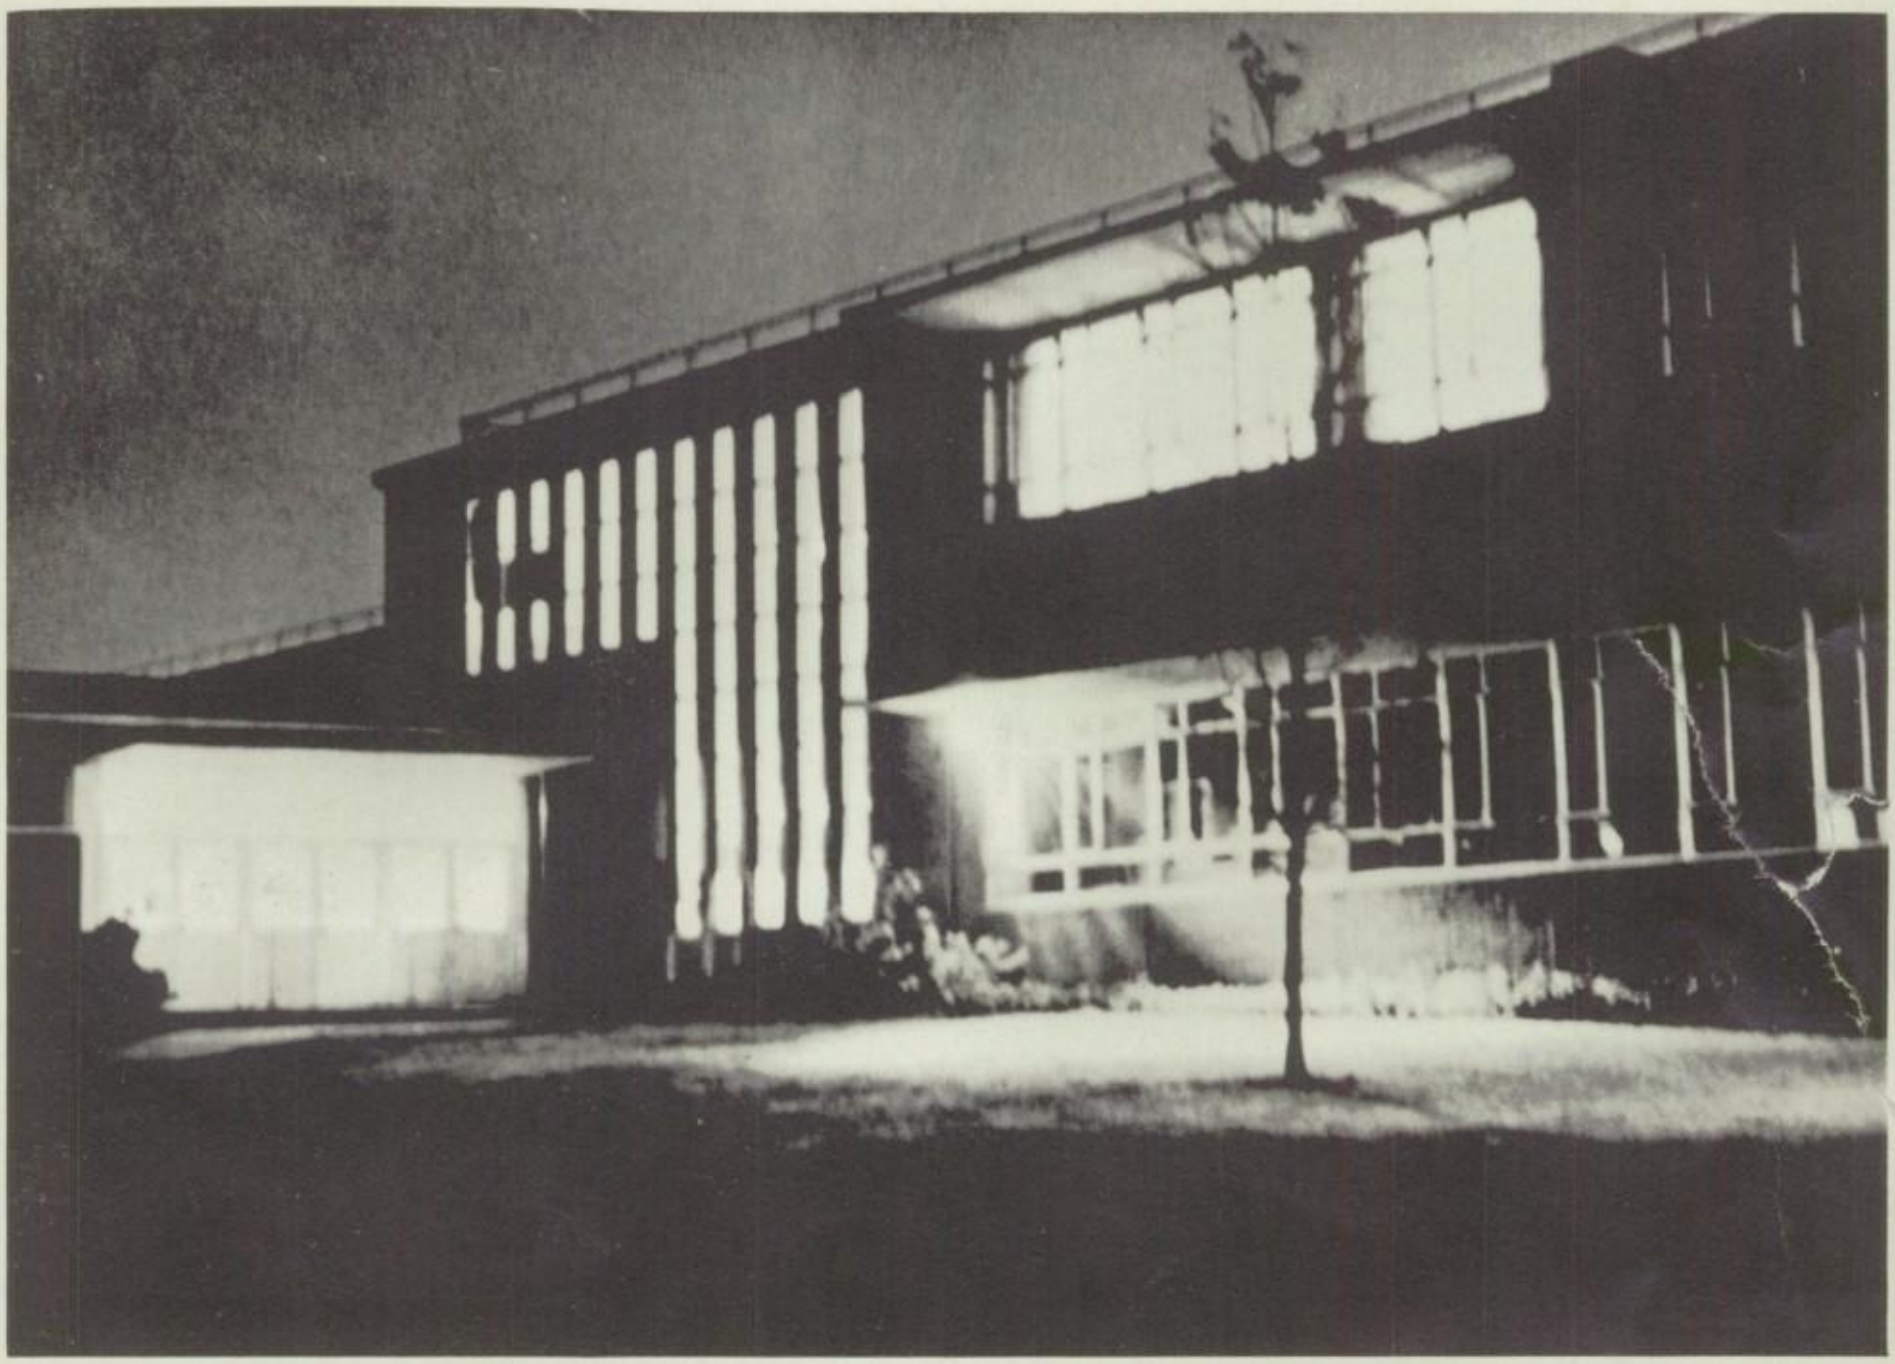
The faculty and administration for their support and co-operation.

Mr. Stacy Wong for his many trips to Madison and work on the division pages.

Mr. Allan Dunham and Mr. Ed Gomez of Dunham Printing for their helpful advice in planning our book.

Mrs. Geraldine Ryan for keeping our accounts.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Conklin, our yearbook advisor. She worked many hours with each member of the staff, kept us working when we slowed down, and provided the enthusiasm which we needed to keep going.



This was our year—
We made it what it was.
It was one more piece
In the puzzle of life.
We hope that now
We are more aware of ourselves,
Our school,
And our future.

Scott,
I'd like to write something you'd really appreciate, but how? It's been a big year in many ways. I hope you've been happy, for that's what really counts. I'll see you this summer, and then there's another year. I wonder how we'll feel at the end of that one.

Always,
Pat

Scott

Ah 'spose ah coulel say dat de year has ben real fem but 'course dis nigga neva died lak de white man's larn' house. Have a good time next year as top niggah of de BAND. Mebbe Ahll see ya in it ifin ah seey fit ta jine up a'gin.

R-B.

Scott;
After reading these various notes I don't quite agree with everything that's been written! I do a good job as Band President and try to help alice in hand as Secretary! Good luck in all you do and someday you may even graduate! I'll probably haunt the lounge room next fall before I leave for college so . . .

That's All Folks!

Faye Abbott

To a real nice guy, who plays a nice flute. Have fun this summer.

Lawrence Zerr

Dear Scott,
What a flute players! This year kind of pooped out after the 3.11 was through. Maybe I'll change instruments again next year. It's been interesting watching Pat battle - maybe I shouldn't have been written that, anyway - it sent and written that, anyway - it ting. Glad you finally got your good. It does me though. hood you live in, as I'm but + out will for next see and probably day I to very friendly friend

Scott.
To a real smart kid in Dutch and probably every other class. Have fun this summer
Tim Rieger

I Love the neighborhood you live in, as I'm license - lot of good will for next sure you well know. How I see and probably year I will have to wait to see day I even longer to understand. Something to may write you another few notes to Dad. Be good and don't let your watch over you too carefully.
Lois — very friendly friend

Scott, Yi ya buddy, You've been a real good pal this year.
Have a good summer and I'll see you next year first period.
S'long.
MARK

Scott
To a real smart German student. Best of Luck, and have fun this summer.
Ellen Andreasen

Scott,
Did you realize that next year you will be a senior? Just think it will be your turn to tear the school apart. And you'd better do a good job of it, and don't get caught. Oh yes. Remember Street Gth band director) can stick the practice hard to uphold the tradition Band next year it's the last one before all Good luck and all that stuff your illustrious Summer Sally

Scott,
I've enjoyed knowing you so much this year. I've really had a time. This was a real great year and I hope next year will be even better.
Laura Mae Lee

Scott,
I'm glad we had the flute in common. I've enjoyed knowing you. Have a good summer and I'll see you next year.
